

A Senior Citizen Boom is Coming

By JANET PARKER
First in a Series

The senior citizen boom is on its way to San Mateo County.

The greening of America — the trend of the 1960s — has turned into the graying of America, and San Mateo County, according to local reports, is following the nationwide pattern.

While public schools are struggling for students and many classrooms once filled by products of the World War II baby boom are empty, senior citizen clubs and organizations are jammed.

South San Francisco's Senior Citizens Club has reached its capacity and 175 persons are on a waiting list hoping for acceptance. It's grown from 60 to 500 members in just three years.

The San Bruno-South San Francisco Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons has grown from a nucleus of 50 to 435 members since January. These figures are not unusual on the Peninsula.

There are now more than 60 clubs in this county designed for senior citizens and retired persons — more than for any other segment of the population.

Bonny Russell, chairwoman of the county's Commission on Aging, says the general public has yet to realize what the effect of this senior population will be on society.

The county Area Agency on Aging has predicted that about 15 per cent of the county's population will be comprised of persons 60 years old or older by 1980 — compared to 11.6 per cent in 1970.

A county mental health department report last year said the total county population increased 25 per cent from 1960 to 1970 while the aged population increased 42 per cent.

The report also estimated that the aged population will continue to increase by about 20 per cent every five years through 1990.

Area Agency on Aging Director Tom Jordan said county officials estimate senior citizen population here is growing nine times faster than any other segment of the population.

"With the expected increase in the aged population, the need to develop services for these persons becomes more evident," the mental health report states.

As a result, both the young and old in San Mateo County are wondering if this county is ready for an increasingly older population with frequently more needs than the youthful generation.

Board Seeks Help

Financial Crisis Seen in Schools

by BILL HURSCHMANN

Indicating a financial crisis for the fiscal year 1977-78, the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees Monday night urged state and local officials to support "equal educational opportunity and adequate funding."

In a resolution supported unanimously, trustees encouraged state senators and assemblymen to "support expeditious legislation . . . to meet the needs of the school district and the educational program."

Dr. John Trompeter, assistant administrator, told trustees the resolution "tends to incorporate the plight of our district along with other districts in the state."

Trustees said the general fund budget for 1977-78 cannot adequately meet the needs for satisfactory maintenance of the district's facilities, personnel salaries and the needs of the educational program.

The district is receiving a 28 per cent reduction in income from federal programs for 1977-78, compared with last fiscal year. At the same time, trustees pointed out, state financing has been reduced by 13 per cent.

"In the same comparison, the district is experiencing a 17 per cent increase from local tax support sources," the resolution added.

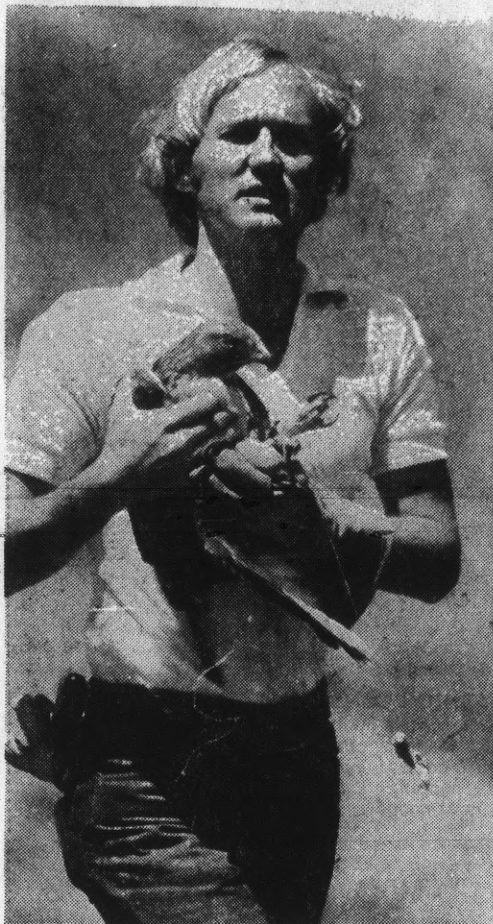

Trustee Dorothy Adams urged the district's staff to "get the resolution up there (to Sacramento) right away."

In other matters, trustees:

- Approved the appointment of Donald Robertson as principal of Woodrow Wilson School. Robertson, who has been with the district since 1973, will assume the post Aug. 22, at an annual salary of $21,847.

- Delayed until Aug. 8 a proposal by Washington National Insurance Co., the district's carrier for group insurance, for an arbitration clause to settle differences.

FOR THE BIRDS

A triumphant Cliff Lindquist, Burlingame-based bird of prey expert, holds "Orphan" the Red Tailed Hawk he recently captured in a Park Pacifica backyard.

Birds of Prey Are His Clients

By FRANK LAPIERRE
Staff Writer

You could say that Cliff Lindquist is for the birds. Certainly Lindquist wouldn't get upset about the remark. After all, he's devoted several years to rehabilitating birds of prey in the Bay Area.

Lindquist, along with Max Krueger, also a bird of prey expert, founded an organization known as SWAF — Set Wild Animals Free — about four years ago.

The first bird rehabilitated by the two bird lovers was "Regal," a Red Tail Hawk which had escaped from its owner in 1973 and would have died from starvation if it was left to fend for itself. Later, it was released in the San Francisco watershed area.

MOST OF the birds Lindquist is entrusted with have been in captivity and lost their ability to hunt for themselves.

It is up to Lindquist to retrain, or in the case of very young birds abandoned by their parents, to train, these birds of prey to hunt on their own in the wilds.

Lindquist, married and the father of a 7-year-old daughter, lives in Burlingame.

Because of the rare birds he is caring for, he is reluctant to give out his address. Thus far, Lindquist and Krueger have rehabilitated 100 birds — some on the endangered species list.

His latest efforts have been directed toward an immature Red Tail Hawk who was reported begging food from residents of a Pacifica neighborhood.

Mrs. Harriet Williams of Kathleen Court in the Park Pacifica area of the coast-side city, reported the presence of the hawk to members of the Sequoia Audubon Society Peninsula Chapter, who, in turn, called Lindquist in to capture and train the bird to hunt.

In the early afternoon of July 22, Lindquist's patience paid off. The huge hawk landed on his gloved left arm and was captured.

"The bird likes people. It probably wouldn't hurt anyone on purpose. But if it ever came down, say, on a child, someone might pick up a gun and shoot it. 'I had to act fast before this happened,' Lindquist explained.

ONE OF Lindquist and Krueger's most famous "cases" involved a Spanish Imperial Eagle that someone had smuggled into the United States.

The rare and majestic bird somehow escaped its unknown captor and was caught by a game warden in Walnut Creek.

The two birdmen put the eagle through the usual course of rehabilitation, and, at the invitation of Pan American Airways, eventually returned it to its native Spain.

"Granny," as the eagle was nicknamed, went on to become a famous television and movie star in a wild animals' series in Spain, much to the delight of Lindquist and Krueger.

Then there was the story of the Harris Hawk, captured and retrained by Lindquist and Krueger.

Transfer Site Attacked

By NANCY STANCLILL

Whenever Harold Calder addresses the Daly City City Council on the subject of garbage, the normally placid council loses its cool.

The phenomenon occurred again Monday night, as the Daly City resident and chief thorn in the side of the Daly City Scavenger Co. got up to speak.

The faces of councilmen and city officials alike took on a wary look and it wasn't long before some heated words were being directed at Calder.

The council, which often shows unflinching patience with loud verbal abuse from many residents, has problems dealing with the quiet British tones of Calder.

BUT, THE resident who insists that the citywide garbage operation should be handled by a non-profit corporation rather than the Daly City Scavenger Co. keeps hammering away at the council.

His remarks Monday focused on whether the San Francisco Transfer Station or other area operations such as the South San Francisco Transfer Station could be used in lieu of constructing the proposed transfer station in Daly City.

Calder said reading a report by the Easley-Brassy Corporation which pointed out alternative arrangements to the Mussel Rock Solid Waste Transfer Station, "makes me wonder whether the transfer station is necessary at all."

Calder said that according to the April report, the San Francisco transfer facility can process 3,000 more tons of garbage a day than it presently is handling.

The resident said that would amply take care of the Daly City area load of 190 tons of garbage daily.

Councilman McRobert Stewart said the San Francisco station may be able to process it, but the San Francisco garbage is then trucked to Mountain View for disposal at a dump there.

The dump is crowded, Stewart fairly shouted, in an attempt to argue the point with Calder, who was moving on.

CALDER HAS criticized Stewart's involvement with the issue, in that Stewart's father-in-law is one of the major shareholders of the Daly City Scavenger Co. Mayor Albert Teglia gavelled both men quiet.

City Attorney A. Polonsky pointed out to Calder that the proposed Mussel Rock Transfer Station will serve not only Daly City, but also Pacifica and the unincorporated Colma area.

City Manager David Rowe told Calder that he presently is compiling information requested by the San Francisco Bay Area Water Quality Control Board concerning short and long-term rates for use of the San Francisco and South San Francisco transfer facilities.

Rowe said he is also exploring direct haul to Ox Mountain dump, the county's dumping facility at Half Moon Bay.

He said he expects to have answers on costs by the end of the week.

The information was requested by the Water Quality Control Board as a part of its consideration of Daly City's request for extension of use of the Mussel Rock dump.

THE BOARD last year ordered the dumping operation there to cease by Aug. 15, 1977. The action grew from a fear of landsliding at the coastside dump and possible ocean pollution.

However, Daly City recently received final state

Aug. 1 Hearing On Broadmoor

Daly City's City Council Monday set Aug. 1 as the hearing date for the council's consideration of a second, temporary contract with the Broadmoor Police Protection District.

The hearing will be at 7 p.m. and City Atty. Albert Polonsky promised to "give as much dissemination of the matter as I can."

The council did not discuss the proposal further.

It probably won't make a decision at the Aug. 1 meeting, but is expected to vote on the matter at its regular session Aug. 8.

The temporary contract would provide the district with police protection for six months, with Broadmoor Police working under the administration of the Daly City Police Department and possibly within other city service divisions.

approval of its proposal to construct a transfer station at the dump site and officials have said it can be completed by February 1978.

Rowe said he is aware that the Daly City Scavenger Co. has hired an engineer to do some preliminary work on the transfer station construction, but the city has not been charged by the scavenger company.

The matter of the dump extension request is expected to be heard by the Water Quality Control Board in September.

IN OTHER business, the City Council:

—Heard the protests of residents George Kirchhubel and Julius Castelan that the council's approval of a 25-cent charge per bi-monthly billing of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District would be reflected in costs to sanitation district customers.

Council members countered that the city is merely charging the sanitation district for use of the city computer and that it is practical for the district's bi-monthly user charge to be attached to residents' water garbage bills.

—Heard a report by Castelan that a $166,000 federal program he is supervising to get 160 low income residents' houses painted has begun in the city.

—Adjourned the meeting without hearing a late See TRANSFER, Page 2

State Park Funds OK'd For Bruno Peak Purchase

By TERRY DAVENPORT

It was hard to figure out which was the star attraction at the Friday meeting of the state Park and Recreation commission, San Bruno Mountain or singer Helen Reddy, who was recently appointed to the commission by Governor Brown.

Environmentalists were jubilant when the commission voted 7-0 to allocate $4 million in 1974 State Park Bond Funds for the acquisition of portions of San Bruno Mountain.

Although the $4 million has already been appropriated by the state Legislature, commission concurrence is required before the money can be spent.

A land purchase must still be arranged, but the decision assures that open spaces will remain on the mountain.

For some, it was the culmination of a seven year battle to preserve the 3,500-acre mountain from developers who have already built houses up the fringes of the mountain.

Throughout the day, cameras were trained on Ms. Reddy. She sat silently through the meeting but opened up later at a press conference.

The developers battled to the bitter end. Their key spokesman, Robert Gilmore, succeeded in having the meeting moved from the San Francisco Airport Hilton Inn to the Holiday Inn before the final vote was taken.

Gilmore, who is business manager for the San Mateo County Building Trades Council, sent a note to State Park and Recreation Director Herbert Rhodes, saying that he wished to present his arguments but refused to cross the picket line of striking Teamsters at the Hilton Inn.

The Teamsters have been striking at local hotels since Thursday in a dispute over wages and hours for workers in Freight Checkers, Clerical Employees and Helpers Union Local 856.

When the meeting reconvened at the Holiday Inn, Gilmore said developers should be allowed to proceed with a development proposal for the mountain that includes housing aimed at low income families. He argued that the plan provides adequate open spaces.

Sherman Eubanks, president of the Crocker Land Co. — which owns most of the mountain — agreed with Gilmore. He said he recognized the commission's right to purchase the land but indicated he was not a willing seller.

Their arguments were outweighed by speeches made by over a dozen park proponents. Some of them, including Mimi Whitney of the Save San Bruno Mountain Committee and Ellie Larson of the Sierra Club, had been fighting to preserve the mountain since 1971, when Crocker first introduced plans for developing the mountain.

Ms. Whitney said she had interrupted her vacation in Washington state to attend the meeting.

Other supporters included Susie Sanders and Conrad Pavellas, speaking for the Original Daly City

Protection Agency; Brisbane Mayor Paul Goerke; Enid Pearson of the Peninsula Conservation Center; Dan Waldman, representing Assemblyman Leo McCarthy; Robert Teglia speaking as a South San Francisco citizen; Jeanne Hodge of Brisbane, Lennie Roberts of the Committee for Green Foothills; and Carter Rose, a Daly City resident.

Standing before the commission in sandals and wrinkled corduroy pants, Rose succeeded in winning the first smile of the day from Commissioner Reddy when he spoke of his affinity with the mountain. "This may sound dumb, but the rocks and I get along pretty good," said Rose.

A presentation by the commission's staff before the vote stressed conservation of the "saddle" area of the mountain, which has the greatest development potential and some of the best views.

The saddle area is adjacent to a portion of the mountain that San Mateo County is in the process of acquiring. County agencies envision a park there with 15 miles of hiking and riding trails, many picnic sites and a day camp facility.

While concentrating on the saddle area, the commission's staff said it felt the commission should keep an eye on the Eastridge and Northridge areas of the mountain, since the staff felt the entire mountain eventually should be preserved.

Environmentalists at the meeting said they will continue their vigil over San Bruno Mountain. They plan to urge more open spaces on the mountain and will follow the commission's progress as it lays out specific plans in the saddle area.

Helen Reddy Makes Debut

New State Park and Recreation

Commissioner Helen Reddy winced when a television cameraman asked her to sing a song to check her voice level on the microphone.

It was clear that the reporters questioning the popular singer at a press conference Friday did not take her qualifications for her new post seriously.

Asked what she believed she had to offer the commission, she replied gamely, "visibility."

She did not profess to have any spectacular qualifications. "I'm just a concerned citizen. I've been interested in the environment for a number of years," she said.

Ms. Reddy explained that she had grown up near parks and has always been drawn to nature.

She said one of the first things she did upon moving See REDDY, Page 2

Four persons were scheduled to be arraigned today in Northern District Municipal Court in South San Francisco on a variety of drug and theft charges.

One of the men taken into custody during a narcotics raid on a Daly City house last Friday by detectives is Michael Parlato, 23, no known address, who was held for investigation in connection with the armed robbery of a Daly City Fotomat store two weeks ago and the shotgun robbery of a San Francisco gasoline station last week.

Parlato was charged with possession of a dangerous weapon — a dagger — when he was apprehended at the home of Eric Gilbert, 22, of 2 Pinehaven Ave., Daly City.

Gilbert was charged with possession of narcotics for sale, auto theft and possession of stolen property.

Alfredo Bautista, 24, of 825 Linden Ave., South San Francisco, was arrested and held on outstanding warrants issued from another, undisclosed city when he visited the home.

Kathleen Bipes, 19, of 261 Buena Vista Ave., Daly City, also was arrested and charged with possession of a switchblade knife, police reported.

Seniors

services they need for a fulfilled life? And, what is it that senior citizens need?

Most senior advocates say San Mateo County has to make up for many years of neglecting its older population.

Until recent years, Jordan said, there's been little interest in senior citizens at all. Americans always have revered youth, linking it with vitality and productivity. Aging has been synonymous with depression, illness and dependency.

"We have very much of a frontier mentality," Jordan said. "It's an emphasis on the rugged and the hardy. The independence concept has been played up at the expense of a strong, integrated family structure."

In the American agricultural family, everyone has a role from childhood to the so-called golden years. But, in the fast-paced suburban communities composed of many mobile individuals, family ties have been severed.

"What we have to begin thinking about is how to bring those ties back together," Jordan said.

The problems of senior citizens weren't so obvious 50 years ago because there just weren't that many people who lived to be older than 65, said Dr. Russell. Then, persons were considered old at 40 and 50. Now "old" means pushing 100.

"Many problems come with great age and when we didn't have that old age, we didn't have to cope with those problems," she said.

Doss Hull, statistician for the county Health and Welfare Department, said there were 6,775 births in 1975 in San Mateo County — and only 2,477 deaths in the over 65 population.

According to a 1973 county report by former statistician Lillian Blackford, nationwide data showed that while the 65 and over population has been increasing at faster than average rates, the older part of the older population is increasing even faster.

It simply means that it's not so unusual anymore to live to 90 or even 100.

San Mateo County has taken steps toward promoting the ever-growing senior citizen population through its recently organized Area Agency on Aging.

The agency is in its third year with a detailed plan for meeting funding requirements. It has a $350,000 annual budget including $307,000 from the federal government for senior support programs.

The plan includes a shopping list of county objectives in the areas of education, recreation, employment, health, housing, legal services, legislation, social services and transportation.

For example, the AAA is developing a county-wide network of senior information and referral centers — central locations where seniors can obtain a variety of information. Seven already are established.

While in recent years a surprising number of programs and services have been implemented for the aged, the question still remains — is San Mateo County ready for a population that has more persons over 65 than ever before, many of them unemployed and with severe financial needs.

First, Jordan says, the non-senior citizen population has to break down many misconceptions it maintains about senior citizens.

"The typical conceptualization of a senior citizen is not true at all," he said. With life expectancy in the 70s and 80s, people at 55 or even 65 are not longer tired and worn out. They are simply moving into a new era in life — a new freedom with a new chance to contribute to society.

"We feel the negative picture of the senior who's old and decrepit is not the typical case," Jordan said. There are many examples of seniors all over the county who are more active in the community than people half their age.

"This is the image that we don't see — the true image of seniors," he said. "Wisdom is built on experience. We have to recognize that and appreciate it. We need to take advantage of what they have to offer — rather than send them off to an old folks home to rock away."

There are people like Ralph Stegmire of San Mateo, who left the labor market seven years ago.

"I've been so darn busy, I don't think I've retired," he said. He's involved in his church and the Optimists, is the county's Senior Forum president and was Senior Man of the Year in 1975.

And there's Irene Cameron of San Bruno who was named Senior Woman of the Year just last month. She's a member of the county Commission on Aging, organized two new chapters of the Association of American Retired Persons in South San Francisco and San Bruno, and does many hours of volunteer work a week.

Most societies, says Ben Fraticelli, county mental health advocate for the aging, have some kind of built-in support system for the aging. They're loved, nurtured and assigned meaningful tasks, as in the African tribal systems.

But, with the decline of the American nucleus family and the emphasis placed on the "great, rugged, hearty individual," seniors ended up isolated and lonely, Fraticelli said.

On the other hand, he added, some seniors psychologically accept the American myth of aging. They believe — because they have been told it's so — that they no longer can participate in sports, continue their education, or even lead an active sexual life.

"We grow up to be what we are told we are supposed to be," Fraticelli said. "There are certain people who think they are going to be virile and healthy forever, and they will be."

Images in the media, says Beverly Brice of Pacifica, have done little to boost the senior's attitude toward his own aging.

The director of Pacifica's Seniors in Action program said visions of the elderly on television in particular are of bumbling idiots who forget and misplace things and drink a lot.

Society in general tends to believe a distorted image — that senior citizens love to babysit for free, are frail and sickly, and don't have much to offer to society.

South of the Border Theme for Floral Fiesta

By GEORGE GOLDING
Late opening night Dream Girl Jenni Granholm wandered through her San Mateo County Fairgrounds domain, wearing blue jeans with ragged pockets and leather sandals.

With four friends she wove through crowds of carnival challengers and flower viewers, smiling her vivacious grin.

Young men who had no idea that she was the queen of the fairgrounds turned their heads as she passed.

Her formal coronation as San Mateo County Dream Girl had occurred at 8:35, but this was after 10 p.m. and most of the formal exhibits had closed.

Sal Millan, general manager of the fair, strolled through the spacious Hall of Flowers alone. Others who had taken part in crowning the Dream Girl had long since gone.

Opening day produced a turnout of 3,849 fairgoers (and some fence jumpers) to drop 5 per cent below the bicentennial fair, which registered 4,070.

The racing handle was off slightly also, with $1,025,613 as against $1,057,038 last year. The drop was reflected only in the first three races. When the thoroughbreds took over, the handle moved to near-record proportions.

During opening hours of the fair they had seen the outside gardens, the samples of home cooking and canning, the sewing and quilting of 4-H youngsters, the samples of San Mateo County's fruitful bounty.

By the thousands they had visited the peddlers and hawkers and sellers, listening briefly to spiels for land in the Sierra, insulation for the home, reclining chairs and special foods and electrical organs and candies and plants.

For a time, the evening's square dance performance was delayed by an electrical problem, and repeated pleas were broadcast for an electrician.

People eating hot dogs and drinking beer or soft drinks near the central mall heard the frantic voice: "Will the electrician please come to the square dancing area."

Lindquist, a seasonal aide for the Department of Fish and Game, gets a nominal fee from the Audubon Society to feed and house the animals and birds under his care.

Without help from the public at large, however, the program would be one gigantic flop, according to Lindquist.

"THE PROGRAM is really a satellite of a group of people in the Bay Area who are devoted to the welfare of wildlife," Lindquist explained.

"Veterinarians, humane societies, museums and zoos have banded together in a common effort — to save what remains of our wild friends," he said.

The group is called the Wildlife Rehabilitation Council (WRC).

Lindquist's group, SWAF, is a non-profit program.

Jeff Aide's Firing Upheld

A four-year legal battle ended Monday night when Jefferson Elementary School District trustees learned the state Supreme Court had upheld their firing of Roger Barthuli, assistant superintendent in charge of business.

Barthuli, along with Frank L. Greenwood, district superintendent, were fired by JESD trustees in July 1973. Barthuli had sought legal recourse against the district, but in January 1974 a Superior Court judge upheld the firing. Barthuli then appealed to the District Court of Appeal.

When Barthuli was fired, the district listed a series of six charges against him. The primary charge was for alleged breach of contract.

JESD, in April 1976, appealed to the state Supreme Court a Court of Appeal decision that said the district should have given Barthuli a hearing and list the charges before dismissing him. The court ordered him reinstated.

Two Robberies At Same Time

Two robberies occurred within 200 yards and seven minutes of each other keeping police officers busy in Daly City Thursday night.

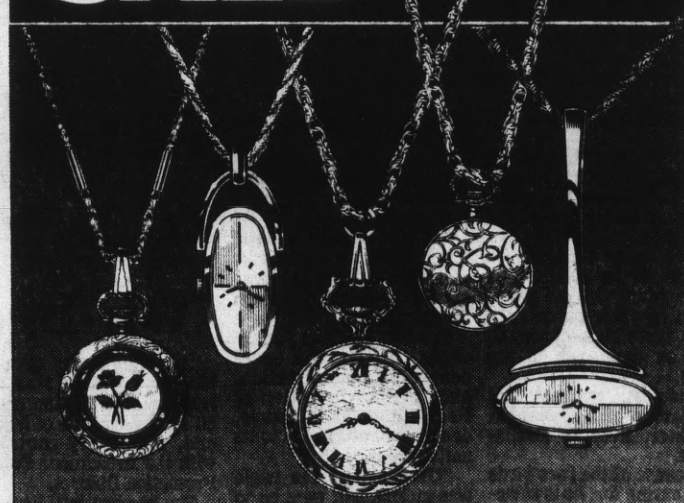

At 10:35 p.m., Ronald Asker of Pittsburgh was leaving a store in Serramonte where he is night manager to deposit the day's receipts at Bank of America in Serramonte Plaza.

At the bank, a black man displaying a revolver confronted Asker and took the deposit bag containing an undisclosed amount of money, police said.

Then, just seven minutes later, Bruno Vaga of Novato was robbed as he left the El Torrito restaurant, also in the plaza.

Police said Vaga was robbed by two white men, ages 18 to 20. They took his wallet which was later found empty near the scene, police said.

Roast Chicken—Tarantino

Chop very finely the liver and giblets of a roasting chicken. Saute them approximately 5 min. in a heavy pot or dutch oven in 1 tbs. olive oil and 1 tbs. butter. Rub the surface of chicken with olive oil and salt and pepper, now place chicken in pot trussed as for roasting. Combine a mixture of chicken stock and water, then pour in pan to a depth of approximately 1 inch. Cover pot tightly, let simmer slowly till chicken is done, approx. 1 hr. 45 min. to two hours and liquid almost simmered away. Remove chicken and carve into serving pieces, arrange on serving dish. Into the remaining juices in pan stir two egg yolks that have been beaten with the juice of a small lemon. Heat this sauce (do not boil) and pour over chicken.

Outstanding—serves 4 to 6 people.

Pets Parade Around Daly City

Pet shows highlighted last week's activities at Daly City playgrounds. Dogs, cats, doves, rabbits and even bugs were entered in the playground event sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department. This week's playground news:

THE HIGHLIGHT LAST week was F.D. Roosevelt Playground's annual dog show. Lulu, the circus dog, just nosed out Heidi the Cub Scout for best costume. Lulu, trained by Efram and Byron won the best tricks division. There was a tie for second place between Peanuts, trained by Joan and Ginger, trained by Victor, Erik and Sonja.

The dog show was stolen by Goldie, who won the cutest dog division. In second place was Elkie, shown by Sherry and Carme. Kiggle and Joy were a close third.

CROQUET has become the most popular activity at Northridge Park. Jerry Lewis and Phil Frenkle are setting the pace in the weekly tournament. Other participants are Billy Moyle, Ray Moyle, Sal Navarro, Mari Pender, Athea Tully, Terry Smith, Norman Navarro and Janet Junio.

Caroms is also a popular game on the playground. Some of the participants are June Salangsang, Mark Nohose, Dee Howard, Tania Tully, Joseph Salangsang and Patty Pender. Northridge Park is also planning a trip down to the beach for a barbecue the near future.

THE WHIFFLE BALL tournament got underway last week at Palisades Park. After some good pitching and great hitting, Danny Pulvan leads the tournament with a record of three wins and no losses. Right behind him in second place is Greg Alaverdy, with two wins and one loss. Fighting for third place are Mark Barro and Tom Adair, with one win each.

Other players are Tony Reinoso and Eric Dew. A barbecue was held at Palisades Park last week and thanks to Joe Dew, it was a good one. Joe brought the meat and Maria Sherman brought marshmallows.

LAST WEEK at M.P. Brown there was a pet show. Those who entered their pets were Ray Cordero, Amy Ezekowitz, Jackie Del Marto, Ronald Feliciano and Denise Garcia.

Ray Cordero's collie won Best of the Show. The high point of the Pet Show was when Ray had his dog in a costume.

THE SKYLINE TEAM has been playing almost every day and is ready for anybody. Star goalie Bobby Gertsle is playing into shape after he broke his arm. Paul Consentino and Richard Marinos play wings. High scoring forwards Scott Parks and Benny Stepanoff man the forwards. Other team members are Rodney Mag-got, John Curry, Jimmy Parks and the Ramirez brothers.

BUTTERFINGERS AWARD of the week goes to Jack Bonfiglio. Skyline had a dog show last week. Keith, Jay Ramirez, Eric Montara, Danny and Ken Kentek all won first place in one level or another.

IN THE SUMMER pet show at M.H. Tobias, 'Flopsy' hopped away with the best award of the show. The owner is Julene Semien. Other winners were Danny, Steve and Kevin Brennan's cat, 'Fluffy', the no-tail cat. Cindy Weicher's bobcat called 'Simon' placed in the cat division. Vanessa and Henry Peyueros' 'Fonzi' took the award of the coolest dog award and Lisa Pierantoni's turtle 'Murtie' rounded out the winners of the day.

In Carroms actions, Andra Guillory was the overall champ for the week. Tony Guillory came in second and Danny Brennan came in the third place.

The outstanding participation award goes to Monica Whittkamp for her great display of talent on her bicycle.

Gellert Park had a pet show and had a great turnout. Twenty dogs, two doves, two rabbits, two cats and various bugs were entered. About 75 people saw the show.

DOG SHOW
First place — Richard Molles

Second place — Jose Saporita
Third place — Licia Fiebert

PET SHOW
First place — Jeff and John Tarantino (dove)

Second place — Robert Cavagnaro (rabbit)
Third place — Tony Varize (rabbit)

THE ANNUAL PET SHOW at Westlake Park was held this past week.

Ron Feliciano's dog 'Lady' took 1st place for best trick dog. Lori Annala's dog 'Flikka' took first place in the category of best looking. Julie Fahey's prize winning dog 'Angie' took 1st place as best behaved dog. Joe Fahey's dog 'Rocky' was voted the best dog of the show. The sports contest for the last week was track. In the boys division, Gerald Johnson took first with Marty Lager in second. In the girls over 12 division, Cindy Lacy took first. In the girls under 12 division, Stephanie Bonner took first, with Sonya Cross with second.

CRIME SOLVER

Daly City Police Chief David A. Hansen, center, presents a certificate of commendation to Lt. Thomas R. Culley, left, as Capt. Edward G. Guzman looks on. Culley was commended for tracking down four suspects in connection with a slaying. In addition, the commendation said, "It has been noted that you have maintained a good open line of communication between yourself and the public."

EAGLE-EYED YOUTHS

Opals High

Opals, noted for their vivid hues, sell on the open market for up to $3,000 a carat. The stones are formed when silica-laden groundwater seeps into bedrock cracks and evaporates, cementing the particles together. The prismatic effect of light bending around the silica causes the opals' colors to glow.

Cleaning Up

Discolored bread and meat boards may be whitened by rubbing them with lemon rinds turned inside out and then washing the wood in warm water.

Many Fail to Register

Wednesday, July 27, 1977

Many automobile leasing and renting companies which also sell used cars have failed to comply with state legislation requiring them to register with the Department of Motor Vehicles.

And, as a result, cities and counties in the state which house these non-compliance agencies have lost much-needed point of origin sales tax monies.

In 1976, Assemblyman Victor Calvo, D-Palo Alto, authored legislation which required vehicle leasing or rental companies also selling cars to register as dealers with the DMV. Prior to the legislation, these companies were not required to levy a 6 per cent sales tax on the sale of the car.

However, under Calvo's legislation, those agencies are now required to collect that sales tax and submit the monies to the state Board of Equalization, which in turn distributes it back to the cities and counties.

"Many of these agencies simply did not comply with the law," said Larry Campbell, DMV spokesman in Sacramento. "We have no idea how many are still not in compliance, but we do know that there are some which have not obtained a license."

Late last year the DMV mailed more than 4,000 letters informing leasing and rental companies of the law as it relates to the selling of vehicles. "That letter told the agencies that if the law pertained to them they should go to their local DMV office to obtain the proper documents to get licensed," Campbell said.

The legislation became law Jan. 1.

Campbell said several follow-up letters were mailed, informing the agencies that unless they were in compliance by April 1, the DMV would take action to secure compliance.

"Since this is an entirely new area," Campbell said, "we've tried to be permissive at first, and then tighten the reins."

One of the problems with enforcing such legislation, Campbell said, is that there are only 280 DMV investigators in the state, "and they've got a whole mess of responsibilities. It is impossible to pull them off everything to check on this."

"What you do," Campbell added, "is that any time you become aware of non-compliance through a consumer complaint or whatever, that's when we take the appropriate action against the agency."

The DMV spokesman said his department has secured compliance in a number of cases, but added he "has no idea how many are still not in compliance."

Campbell said cities and counties should be receiving their share of sales tax monies collected by the state from rental and leasing agencies. If not, Campbell said, the DMV can be contacted for more information.

Big Giveaway in Times Savers Contest

"Times Savers" — a Times newspaper contest offering more than $5000 in merchandise prizes, along with vacation trips — kicked off Monday with the opening of the San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta.

Grand prize will be a vacation trip for two to Torremolinos, Spain, with round trip air transportation via TWA. Winners will spend the week at the Aloha Puerto Hotel. There will be a runner-up prize offered at The Times fair booth of a trip for two to Las Vegas.

Each week the 27 retail stores co-sponsoring the contest with The Times will offer more than $900 in merchandise prizes for a total of over $5,000 during the eight-week duration of the contest.

Times-Savers, a promotion designed to show readers the substantial savings made possible by shopping newspaper ads and using "cents-off" coupons, will offer a special wheel at The Times fair booth, where "clip-it" knives and coupon banks will be offered to lucky visitors.

Coupons will appear daily in The Times offering discounts of merchandise at participating stores, along with an entry form which readers can deposit at stores for a chance to win merchandise prizes. All weekly winners will become eligible for the grand prize drawing, which will be held at the end of the promotion in September.

Details, entry forms and valuable discounts on merchandise will appear in The Times daily newspaper for the next eight weeks. Copies are available at news stands throughout the county, or for daily home delivery, call 348-4411.

Golden Gate

Modern management skills and techniques will be covered in a one-day seminar for women to be presented July 30 by Golden Gate University at the Hyatt of Union Square.

Participants will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and topics to be examined include selecting the right employer, overcoming obstacles as the first woman manager in a department, facing the problems and opportunities of tokenism and making effective use of meeting time.

Management consultant Dru Scott will lead the seminar. He is the co-author of the books "Affirmative Action for Women: A Practical Guide for Women and Management" and "Women as Winners: Transactional Analysis for Personal Growth."

The enrollment fee includes the cost of lunch. More information including an enrollment form may be obtained from Golden Gate University's Center for Management Development.

Eye-catching Flowers Enticing to Fair-Goers

Rose and fuchsia displays featuring brand new varieties for fairgoers' perusal will highlight the amateur floral displays at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta through Aug. 6.

Visitors to the rose and fuchsia educational exhibits will find the names of all new varieties in a special category and can later order them from commercial growers for their own gardens. Variations in the new groups include aroma, blossom size, number of petals and frilling of edges.

The San Mateo County Rose Society will display 50-60 varieties, and will have rosarians on duty to answer visitors' questions about growing prize-winning plants.

The San Mateo County and San Bruno branches of the American Fuchsia Society will display over 100 varieties, including the rather rare yellow fuchsia. The plants will hang from trellises in the Fuchsia Arcade, where fairgoers will find pamphlets about growing and pruning healthy fuchsias.

Trout Fishers Head For Cooler Waters

High temperatures in most areas of Northern California have sent trout and trout fishermen scurrying for what few cooler places can be found. Fish in lakes have gone deeper.

Glacier-like snow packs on the east side of Mt. Shasta are melting at a high rate and the result has been very muddy water in McCloud and Iron Canyon Reservoirs and along the Pit River watershed, especially in the Pit 5 Powerhouse area. Muddy water may be expected in the lower Pit River system by this weekend if the high daytime temperatures continue.

Feather River areas are peaking summer low flows, but there the water is clear and cool. Early and late fishing has been the most productive. Fly fishermen especially are scoring.

The summer slump has hit high lakes on the Yuba and Bear River watersheds, although persistent fishermen are getting fish. Trollers are going 40 to 50 feet deep in Sardinia, Packer, Salmon, Gold and Goose lakes. All forks of the Yuba River are very low, warming and the action has slowed in the area near Downieville.

Swiss Power

Switzerland is the leader among the 18 countries outside the United States producing electricity with nuclear power. That country's nuclear plants generate approximately 18 per cent of its electricity.

Time for Crafts

Every weekday in Daly City, children gather at playgrounds throughout the city for crafts programs sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department. The program, run by Lin Winetrub, will continue through Aug. 19. On a recent day at Daniel Webster School, one young man (upper left) dunked for apples while (lower left) Ms. Winetrub showed youngster Nancy Cox how to face paint in a clown-style, and 14-year-old Tom Castro (above) feasted on cotton candy. Upcoming craft projects are "dippity dye," string painting, paper pottery, tissue hang-ups and raffia weaving. Each project costs 25 cents and is designed for children from seven to 12 years of age. The daily playground craft schedule is as follows: Monday — 11 a.m., Our Lady of Mercy; 1 p.m., M. H. Robias; 2:30 p.m., F. D. Roosevelt. Tuesday — 11 a.m., War Memorial Community Center; 1 p.m., Colma Intermediate; 2:30 p.m., George Washington. Wednesday — 11 a.m., Serramonte High School; 1 p.m., M. P. Brown; 2:30 p.m., Marchbanks Park. Thursday — 11 a.m., Westmoor Park; 1 p.m., Westlake Park; 2:30 p.m., Daniel Webster. Friday — 11 a.m., Lincoln Park; 1 p.m., Panorama; 2:30 p.m., Bayshore.

Pacifica Manager Rejects A Raise

Money is an embarrassing topic in Pacifica. For the second year, the City Council is scrutinizing the proposed city budget with Scrooge-like concern.

But the council was pleasantly surprised this year when City Manager Donald Weidner asked not to be considered for a raise from his present salary of $35,000.

"My reasoning is that my salary is right in line with salaries for city managers in other cities of comparable size," said Weidner.

The council approved his request, but agreed to consider giving Weidner a raise in six months.

Twenty other city management employees also demonstrated their awareness of Pacifica's financial problems this week when they requested — and got — 4 per cent salary increases, compared to the 5.5 per cent boost that other city workers received.

State Parks Grapple With Drought

State parks, beaches and recreation areas have given the people of California nearly full service through the first half of this second successive critically dry year, said State Parks and Recreation director Herbert Rhodes.

Portions of some state park units have been closed or their use has been restricted because of high fire danger, low water levels have restricted swimming and boat use at some inland lakes and reservoirs and use of standard restrooms and showers has been curtailed at some park units because of water shortage.

However, no state park units have been completely closed, and water recreation continues at all state park units bordering lakes and rivers.

Rhodes reported only one change in state park status this week. In Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park, 26 miles south of Carmel in Monterey County, most of Pfeiffer Ridge is closed because of high fire danger. The closure includes all park lands that are west of both Big Sur River and Highway 1, except the group camping area, the nature trail from park headquarters, Pfeiffer Ridge Road, Sycamore Canyon, and an access road to private wells.

"Other state park closures and use restrictions may be necessary this summer," Rhodes said, "however, with continuing cooperation between department personnel and state park visitors, we hope to get through the summer vacation season with a minimum of restrictions and close to full use of our park and recreation resource."

Most state park campgrounds are on the statewide computerized reservation system operated by Ticketron. Campsites may be reserved as early as 30 days in advance and as late as Saturday for camping the following Friday.

To learn the address of the nearest Ticketron outlet in San Francisco, phone 788-2828.

Persons unable to reach a Ticketron terminal in person may mail a reservation request and total fees to Ticketron, Box 26430, San Francisco 94126.

Reservations will be mailed, but no earlier than 30 days in advance. Application forms are available at Ticketron outlets and units of the State Park System.

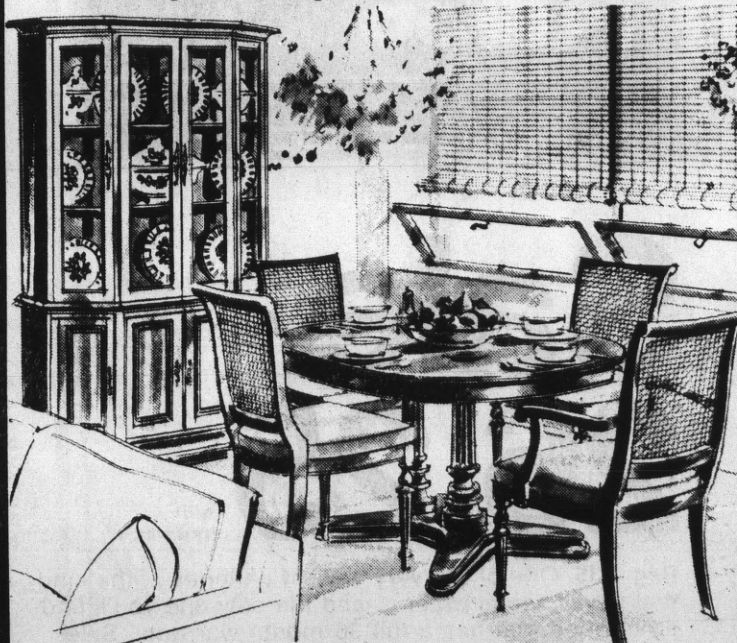

Persons unable to reach a Ticketron terminal in person may mail a reservation request and total fees to Ticketron, Box 26430, San Francisco 94126.

SSF Approves Fire Crews

While South San Francisco's fire chief won support for a minimum 21 firefighter crew, the police chief failed to muster support for a police agent program in a budget session.

Reinstating the fire department's minimum manning in the proposed 1977-78 budget will cost the city about $85,000. Nine police agents along with a lieutenant upgrading plan would have cost the city less than $17,000, Police Chief James Datman said.

Council considered both budgets in yet another study session.

City Manager Walter Birkelo had removed the 21-man minimum concept from the proposed Fire Department's $2.4 million budget this year as a cost-saving measure.

Several years ago, the council increased the number of firefighters required to be on duty each shift from 19 to 21. That meant if the number dropped below 21 due to illness, disability, vacation or other leaves, off-duty firemen would be called in on overtime.

Reducing the daily required firefighter force from 21 to 19 would have saved the city overtime costs of about $85,000, Birkelo estimated.

Fire Chief Lawrence Tjellner had objected to the minimum manning reduction, saying that it would reduce Fire Department services.

"Anytime you cut back on safety programs, you're cutting your neck off," Councilman William Borba said about Birkelo's proposal.

Councilman Terry Mirri added the council must consider the additional risk to city safety by reducing its daily fire crew.

The police department's detailed program for police career development — including implementation of the nine police agents — was first presented to the council several months ago.

It was explained that the agent program would increase career opportunities for patrol officers — particularly those who want new challenges but not necessarily a higher level position. In addition, since the city is not hiring any new officers in the foreseeable future, advancement opportunities are few, Datman had said.

Patrolmen assigned as agents would receive a 10 per cent higher salary than a regular patrolman. Then, the new agents would be rotated among a variety of assignments.

Birkelo said the plan allows for "greater flexibility" within the department.

PAUSE FOR RECOGNITION

Thomas Edison School in Daly City honored student ideas for the work they do as part of the Jefferson Union High School District Community Service program. Teacher Al Mosley is shown scooping ice cream on cake for Cindee Holecsek while Margarita Bagatelos awaits her turn. Those interested in participating in the program may contact Jack Romege at Westmoor High School, 756-3434.

Volunteers Needed

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County, with offices in Burlingame, Daly City and Redwood City.

The local telephone number for area residents is 992-0957, an answering service. Residents may also call the main office in Burlingame at 342-0801, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

DAY CAMP FOR THE HANDICAPPED — Many volunteers are urgently needed to assist handicapped children and young adults in this outdoor recreation program held at Coyote Point in August. Volunteers are the most essential part of the day camp due to the time and attention they can give to each camper. Volunteers serve for a two-week session from 9:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. daily with two sessions to choose, the first session beginning Aug. 1.

VOLUNTEERS IN PROBATION SERVICE — A volunteer with a Lifesaving Certificate is needed to help at the Jefferson School pool on Wednesday and Friday from 1 to 2:15 p.m.

GUADALUPE HEALTH CLINIC — A young developmentally disabled man needs a visitor to talk with and share activities. This would involve meeting one evening per week and a male visitor is preferred.

SERVICE LEAGUE OF SAN MATEO COUNTY — Volunteers are needed to be friends of families of county jail inmates. Volunteer visitors are needed for families in South San Francisco, Daly City, Pacifica and San Bruno. Volunteers assist the families in many ways and are trained to handle sensitive situations and minor emotional problems.

Additional information about these and other volunteer opportunities for adults and youths may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau at 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame. Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment only.

Good morning, good cooks. Have you ever been in the mood to bake cookies and found that the ingredients you needed were missing? What is a chocolate chip cookie without chocolate chips? And who ate all the chocolate chips? Or a raisin cookie without raisins? And who ate all the raisins?

If you live in a household where such goodies disappear mysteriously and you therefore find yourself frustrated when the cookie baking urge is upon you, here's a recipe that calls for none of the ingredients that the munchers in the family find so tasty. These ingredients stay on the kitchen shelf.

DROP SUGAR COOKIES

2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk

Have all the ingredients at room temperature. Sift together the two and one-half cups flour, half teaspoon soda and three-fourths teaspoon salt and set aside. Cream together the half cup each butter and shortening. (Note: If you use all butter or margarine, decrease the salt to one-fourth teaspoon.) Next add the one cup sugar and cream well. Finally, add the teaspoon vanilla and egg. Cream until the mixture is fluffy. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients until mixture is smooth, then blend in the two tablespoons milk.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and flatten with bottom of water glass that has been greased and dipped in sugar.

Bake in 375-degree oven about 12 minutes. Cool.

Yield: About 5 1/2 dozen cookies.

Samuel Chandler

A recent poll showed that more people recognized John Wayne's name and face than any other man in United States history except Abraham Lincoln. Yet John Wayne is not his name, and he wanted to be a lawyer, not an actor. Wayne was born May 26, 1907 in Winterset, Iowa, to Mary Brown and Clyde Morrison, a pharmacist. His parents named him Marion Robert — or Marion Michael — depending on which story you believe. But Marion didn't fit; so soon he became Duke — Little Duke, to distinguish him from Big Duke, who was the family dog.

In high school, Marion (Little Duke, John Wayne) lettered in football, was president of the senior class, a member of the debating team and president of the Latin Society. While attending UCLA, he met Tom Mix, who gave him a job as a set dresser for 20th Century Fox. While thus employed, he was assigned to care for a flock of geese for a picture directed by John Ford. He lost control of the geese and spoiled a shot.

Later he was assigned to sweep the set where John Ford was directing another picture and right in the middle of a big scene, he started to sweep the stage. In desperation, Ford put the set dresser into the movie! Thus Wayne was on his way to stardom.

A BIOGRAPHY of John Wayne may be found in the May issue of "Films in Review." Each month the periodical spotlights a star. In July it was Joan Bennett, who became a brunette to star in a whodunit which required that she change the color of her hair for a disguise. After that she got such good parts that she wrote, "I then became interested in what I was doing."

In December "Films in Review" turned its spotlight on Shirley Temple. (That is her real name). Long before she was born her mother tried to influence her future life by associating with music, art and natural beauty. This prenatal preparation seems to have worked, for Shirley Temple became the most famous child star ever produced. She made at least 42 feature films and several short films. "I'm energetic; I'll work hard" seems to have been her motto both as a child star and as an adult who has filled such positions as Chief of Protocol for the United States State Department.

The February issue of "Films in Review" concentrated on more than one star and featured the romantic teams that have starred for MGM. Remember Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn with their pleasantly estranged wit as they fenced and parried through "Adam's Rib" and "Woman of the Year." Then there were Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon sweeping through "Mrs. Miniver," "Blossoms in the Dust" and "Mrs. Parkington." This team was called "indomitable."

LONG AGO MGM put William Powell and Myrna Loy together for the "Thin Man" series and Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald for some of the most tuneful and successful musicals of all time. Who can forget "Sweethearts," "Rose Marie," "Naughty Marietta" and "New Moon." The mere mention of them sets one to humming the theme songs.

The November issue features not one, but two stars: Ruth Etting, whose life story won five Academy Award nominations, and Deanna Durbin. Remember her in "Three Smart Girls," "That Certain Age" and "Mad About Music?" Records show that such films kept Universal Studios out of the red while it developed a group of new stars. Deanna retired to France, where she lives with her third husband.

"FILMS IN REVIEW" is published monthly except in June-July and August-September, when it becomes a bi-monthly. It is the organ of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures. Since this organization maintains that the responsibility for good motion pictures is not the industry's alone, but is also the public's, it reviews films, classifies them, disseminates information about them and organizes audience support for them. The National Board further assists the development of the motion picture as entertainment, as education and as art. Surely the patron of the movies can improve his enjoyment of the films by consulting "Films in Review."

Crafts Fair Exhibits

The Pacific State Crafts Fair, a prestigious once-a-year fair and marketplace, sponsored by the Southwest Region of the American Crafts Council, will open at noon on Aug. 11 at Fort Mason, San Francisco.

Co-sponsors of the fair are The Golden Gate National Recreation Area and the Fort Mason Foundation. Hours are noon-6 p.m. on Thursday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $1.

Ceramic, wood, metal, textile and stained glass artisans, as well as jewelers, glass blowers, weavers, potters — 250 exhibitors in all — will be coming from 10 different western states to participate in the four-day event.

Screening and final selection of craftsmen was done by a professional jury which reviewed over 600 entrants.

Art-in-action demonstrations will be a continuous feature of the fair.

Summer School Stresses Variety

A REAL CATCH

Lisa Gibbs is fascinated with her catch. Fishing is part of the regular summer school curriculum at the Laguna Salada Union School District, using the Pacifica pier. Many other unusual courses are offered also.

By TERRY DAVENPORT

It's a scene right out of "Huckleberry Finn"; lanky youths with tousled hair dangle their fishing poles into the deep blue water off the Pacifica pier on a hot summer day.

The youths are enrollees in summer school but they aren't playing hooky. Fishing is part of their regular summer school curriculum at the Laguna Salada Union School District.

A comprehensive county-wide report on the booming summer school enrollments and the wide variety of programs offered appeared in The Times Friday.

Richard Silver, head teacher of Sharp Park Summer School, says he takes his students fishing every Wednesday morning. It all started two years ago when some of his students asked if they could go fishing. Those who knew how to fish taught the others — and Silver — the basics of baiting, casting and even cleaning fish.

This year, Silver said, the entire class was eager to fish, so he scheduled weekly fishing expeditions. "So far we've caught about five fish, but we had to throw three back," he explained.

Silver also has introduced photography to the district and is excited that four of the district's 10 summer school locations are offering photography this year. He teaches photography and other crafts during what he calls the class "artsy" period.

The rest of the time, Silver's students concentrate on mathematics and language arts in a program that stresses "back to basics" learning.

Another class in the district taught by Dave Patterson followed Silver's lead. After a summer-school fishing trip to Princeton-by-the-Sea, students caught enough fish and crabs for Patterson to concoct a big pot of cioppino. The students gobbled down the cioppino in class the following day.

Students in Brenda Litwin's class at Pacific Heights School recently took a different kind of expedition. They visited Skyline Junior College's cosmetology department, where 25 budding cosmetologists fussed over each one for 45 minutes.

The students had a choice of a haircut, a manicure or a person instead of a beauty school mannequin. Everyone was satisfied with the results Mrs. Litwin reported.

Tom Malone, summer school president, said the district is stressing field trips this year. Older students are taking trips to the Planetarium and the Exploratorium in San Francisco, while younger pupils are visiting Golden Gate Park and the San Francisco Zoo.

Another journey, Malone said, was a cure or a shampoo and dry. Most chose the haircut. Each had to obtain parental permission for the field trip.

"It was very exciting for them. Some of these kids don't get haircuts that often and most had never had a manicure," Mrs. Litwin said.

The cosmetologists were intimidated when they first saw the group of 30 students, but they later commented about how much more satisfying it was to said, is a trip on a BART train. The older students take BART on a journey to the Pacific Gas & Electric building, where they learn about solar energy. The younger ones merely make a round trip on BART.

"It's quite an experience. About 40 per cent of the students have never been on a BART train and a large portion of students have never walked on downtown San Francisco streets," Malone said.

Students in grades five through seven at Fairmont School are learning a unique game called American Cricket, which Teacher Bob Costa says is a combination of baseball and dodge ball.

"The pitcher bounces a rubber ball to one kid and he hits it with his hand and tries to reach the other side of the gym before the other kids hit him with the ball," said Costa.

These innovative programs may explain why Laguna Salada's summer school enrollment has steadily increased over the past two years. Current enrollment is 1,100.

Malone believes that students and parents are attracted because of the structure of the school. The district is experimenting with a six-week long summer school this year, compared with five weeks in the past. The response to the longer program has been favorable.

Most summer school students attend classes from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. But students at four of the 10 schools are personally tutored for one hour each day in a specific area.

"The tutorial program was designed for a student who needs special help in an area. I wanted to design

SCHOOLWORK

Weekly fishing expeditions from the Pacifica pier have been scheduled by the Sharp Park Summer School, as a result of student requests. Students who know how to fish teach the others, and sometimes the instructor.

Aide Accused of Insubordination

Edward Bacciocco unsuccessfully urged his fellow San Mateo County supervisors Wednesday to call the director of general services on the carpet for his "insubordination" in refusing to prepare a supplemental budget report as done by all other county department heads.

Veteran county employee, Henry Tarratt, was the only department director who failed to submit a budget report as requested by County Manager David Nichols. As a result Nichols did the report.

The county manager had asked that all department heads submit reports to his office showing how they could reduce their individual budgets to last year's net county cost. The reports were designed to aid the supervisors in their examination of this year's proposed budget.

Bacciocco called Tarratt a "prima donna" for refusing to comply with Nichols' request.

"It's our duty to exact the information (requested of Tarratt by the manager) and ask Mr. Tarratt for a justification for his actions," said Bacciocco.

"He should be made to toe the line and respect both the board and the county manager," he added.

Supervisor James Fitzgerald replied that it was unfair to call Tarratt a prima donna, especially in his absence, and charged that it was unproductive to take on department heads and "roast" them in public session.

Fitzgerald reminded Bacciocco that Tarratt has been most judicious in bringing down the cost of his own department.

"An order was given by the commander and chief administrator and Mr. Tarratt was the only one to refuse. Apparently Mr. Fitzgerald doesn't mind the insubordination, but I do, and I don't think Mr. Nichols should be required to do someone else's job," Bacciocco responded.

Supervisor Fred Lyon said he agreed that Tarratt should have prepared the report as requested and added that he has some questions of the director on various budget items.

Howard Oliphant, president of the Governmental Research Council, came to Tarratt's defense stating, "I've worked with Mr. Tarratt for some time and I've found him most cooperative and cost conscious."

Board Chairman John Ward, told Bacciocco that he and all the other supervisors had known for some time that Tarratt had not completed the report and that he had ample time to talk with Tarratt personally about his concerns.

Ward said he and Tarratt had spoken about his failure to comply, but the chairman did not elaborate.

"If there is any insubordination," interjected Supervisor William Royer, "it was to the manager, and I'm sure he can handle it. Tarratt works for Mr. Nichols."

The board ultimately decided to discuss the budget of the General Services Department on Aug. 1.

Garden Hints Given

1. Exhibition size dahlias bloom result from removing all but the terminal buds from the stems. If you want more flowers, but of a smaller size, don't remove any flower buds or pinch out any side stems along the main branches.

2. For the best results, always read directions on the labels of insecticides and fertilizers, then follow them exactly.

3. Petunias and other annuals that suddenly go out of bloom may be suffering insect damage. Look for insects first, then spray. A shot of liquid fertilizer will also help put them back in bloom.

4. If you stop watering lilacs and peonies now, they will go dormant earlier which will promote more plentiful bloom next spring.

5. You can continue to feed chrysanthemums every three weeks until the buds start to show color, then hold off. But remember to keep pinching them back every two to three weeks until the buds color for more compact, bushier plants.

6. If you have excessive runoff problems when watering or if your soil can't seem to soak up the water, try perforating it with a lawn spiker or aerator, removing soil cores after you finish.

7. Make sure your lawn mower blades are set at 2-3" high. Leaving taller grass plants will help keep the soil and their roots shaded and cooler which means less frequent irrigating.

8. Flower size can be improved by dividing crowded clumps of Shasta daisies. Divisions can be made every two years or so.

9. For continued bloom from hibiscus, the key is using an acid type fertilizer on a regular basis. Don't fertilize after August or you'll promote new growth too tender for cold fall weather.

10. Garden insects are at their peak. Tomatoes and other vegetables should be sprayed at the first signs of trouble.

Jefferson Ponders Tax Cut

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees learned this week they may be able to reduce the district's tax rate by 33 cents.

Dr. John Trompeter, assistant superintendent for administrative services, predicted a $2.15 tax rate for every $100 of assessed valuation. Last year's figure was $2.48 per $100.

Trompeter told trustees he is certain the estimated tax rate, based on a $13.8 million budget for the fiscal year 1977-78, would change only slightly. "If anything," he said, "it should drop by a few cents."

The 1977-78 budget is $13,332 less than the Daly City district's 1976-77 budget.

The board has adopted a publication budget, and is to adopt the final budget some time in August after a public hearing.

Trompeter told trustees the district was able to reduce its budget because of an expected enrollment decline of 300 pupils.

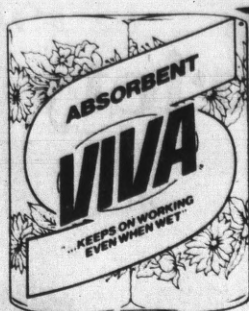

However, taxpayers in the district can expect to pay more actual dollars for the operation of the district. Daly City residents found themselves with a 40 per cent boost in assessed valuation this spring.

Trustee Dorothy Adams told the board that state support for the district has dropped by 24 per cent and federal support by 2.7 per cent, while local support has increased by 17 1/2 per cent.

"It does not seem right that the state keeps paying us less and less and we keep paying more and more in property taxes," said Trustee David Parker.

Ovenware

Foods bake faster in glass ovenware than in shiny metal pans because the glass collects and holds the heat instead of reflecting it. When baking in glass, reduce oven temperature at least 25 degrees Fahrenheit unless the recipe states it was written for use with glass ovenware.

Knife Thrower Appears

The fine art of impalement — knife-throwing at a human target — will be demonstrated during the second week of the San Mateo County Fair & Floral Fiesta by TV "Gong Show" winner Larry Cisewski.

Highlighting the master's Aug. 1-6 performances will be the 100 rpm "Wheel of Death" feat, in which he outlines in daggers the blurred, spinning image of his assistant on a wheel. He also is famed for his skill at slicing a cigarette in half while held in his assistant's lips.

Cisewski, who has performed in Las Vegas, Hollywood and throughout the United States, will appear at 8:45 p.m. Monday through Saturday in the Fiesta Bowl, and in a matinee performance at 4 p.m. on Saturday.

Survey Shows Pattern

A cross-section of business in San Mateo County queried on hiring plans for the next three months expect a stable employment level over the next quarter, according to a quarterly survey of county businessmen released by Manpower, the world's largest temporary help service.

The pattern of employment stability begun this spring will continue through September, the survey shows, with 70 per cent of the firms queried planning to maintain current employment levels, while 66 per cent had similar plans for the spring quarter.

Seventeen per cent of the firms said they expect to add new employees to their payrolls in the current quarter, compared to 27 per cent for the spring quarter, the report said.

The San Mateo County employment study was part of the national Employment Outlook Survey done each quarter by Manpower among 5,000 businessmen.

Nationwide, the Southern region is leading in employment expectations, with 37 per cent of those surveyed saying they plan work force increases this quarter. The West is right behind with 34 per cent, the Midwest 32 per cent and the Northeast 29 per cent.

Nationally, the durable goods industry has the highest expectations, with 34 per cent planning to add employees.

Manpower, which has more than 700 offices in 33 countries, claims its predicted employment trends for the first half of 1977, based on its surveys, have been accurate. Manpower has an office at 480 S. Ellsworth St., San Mateo.

2 Fires In Bruno

Had circumstances been different, two fires in San Bruno Thursday night could have caused much more damage than they did.

San Bruno firemen responding to an alarm at 9:01 p.m. found flames shooting out the rear door and windows of a wood frame house at 1116 Huntington Ave.

They extinguished the blaze in several minutes. A fire official estimated damage to the structure at $15,000. There was no damage to contents, as the house was unoccupied and not furnished.

Firemen said they are trying to locate the owner and are investigating the cause of the fire.

Just 42 minutes later, a second alarm took firemen to 143 Acacia Ave., where Ronald Henderson stood in front of his burning car.

Firemen quickly put out the fire and said it was probably accidentally caused by the owner, who had been using a cutting torch on the roof. Estimated damage was only $25.

Big Savings

Some observers estimate that the equivalent of 500,000 barrels of oil could be saved daily if all homes in the United States were properly insulated.

Skyline College Sept. Opening

Sept. 6 will be the first day of fall 1977 semester classes at Skyline College in San Bruno.

Registration materials and admission information for the forthcoming term for day, evening and Saturday classes are now available at the college and in local libraries.

Persons interested in enrolling in the day, evening or Saturday classes should contact the college as soon as possible to insure both admission into the classes they wish to enroll and a counseling appointment.

Evening and Saturday students can obtain the mail-in application forms, schedule of classes and course description brochure from local libraries and at the Skyline College Admission and Records Office. The office is located in Bldg. 1 on the second floor, at the campus.

Students planning to enroll at Skyline College for the first time should take the Guidance and Placement Test prior to their fall 1977 counseling appointment.

All San Mateo County residents who are 18 years of age or older who have a high school diploma may enroll at the college.

Although the placement test is not an admissions test, it is designed to aid the student and the counselor in planning an appropriate course program for the student.

The test will be given on the following dates: Aug. 2 and 16 from 6:30-10 p.m. in the library, Bldg. 2 and

Aug. 6 and 20 from 8 a.m.-noon in Bldg. 2, Room 2306.

Skyline College's 1977-1978 catalog is now available at the campus bookstore from 8 a.m.-noon daily or in the administration operations cashier's office on the third floor of Bldg. 1 from noon-4:30 p.m.

The catalog includes general information about the college, graduation requirements, descriptions of career programs, transfer programs and a listing of the course offerings.

The price of the catalog is $1.25. It also can be purchased by mail prepaid for $1.50.

The fall 1977 scheduled of classes, a booklet which contains listing and class meeting hours of all the college's courses, is available free of charge at Skyline College's admissions office, Bldg. 1, second floor.

For further information concerning registration, Placement test schedule or course offerings call Skyline College Admission-Records office 355-7000, ext. 251.

Difference

What's the difference between mayonnaise and salad dressing? Mayonnaise is a stable emulsion of oil droplets in water and doesn't separate because it is stabilized with egg yolk. Salad dressing, meanwhile, contains less oil and a cooked starch paste is substituted for part of the egg.

Woman Wins Scholarship

Doreen Gutierrez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gutierrez of Pacifica, is one of two College of San Mateo women graduates who have been awarded a full tuition athletic scholarship to the University of California at Berkeley.

Nineteen-year-old Doreen, a member of the class of 1977, was a general education major at the College of San Mateo and plans to continue her studies in the field of sociology. Though awarded her scholarship on the basis of her performance in softball, she was definitely a "good all-around athlete," reports her softball and basketball coach at CSM, Tom Martinez.

As a third baseman in slow pitch softball, she may be credited with aiding CSM in its 13-4 record and a fourth place finish in Northern California. Her batting average was .300.

In basketball, she averaged over 20 points per game, scoring over 500 points for the season, "a monumental effort," says Martinez, netting CSM a 22-8 record for the season, the basketball championship in the Northern California Division of BACAWA (Bay Area Women's Athletic Association) as well as third place in California.

In volleyball, she was described by her coach, Ingraham, as a high scorer, showing "tremendous" improvement during her two years on the team, and is credited with aiding CSM to its second place position in the Northern Division of the BACAWA Conference, and fifth place in the regional volleyball competition.

SamTrans Returns Favorite

Several changes in San Mateo County Transit District local bus routes will become effective Saturday, most of the changes restoring or adding service.

Downtown San Mateo to Burlingame commuters will get one of their favorite routes back when Route 43R, which until now has run along El Camino Real, is switched to San Mateo Drive, which becomes California Drive north of Poplar Avenue.

The San Mateo Drive route, dropped when SamTrans took over Greyhound Lines operations in this county July 2, again will link downtown San Mateo with downtown Burlingame east of El Camino, turning off California at Bellevue Avenue to Burlingame City Hall on Primrose Road.

Route 43R also will continue to serve College of San Mateo, except it will turn onto El Camino at Fourth Avenue in San Mateo.

Route 90H, between CSM and Half Moon Bay, will be extended to include Chope Community Hospital on hourly frequencies weekdays from 8:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Passengers to Hillsdale Shopping Center will have hourly weekday service from 8:21 a.m. to 4:21 p.m. on 90H.

South San Francisco service will be expanded, with residents of West Winston Manor to be served for the first time.

Route 27M will serve both Winston Manor and West Winston Manor, with routes 26H, 28C and 29W to be enlarged. All these local routes also will feed onto El Camino to connect with the Mainline buses.

Bruno Fotomat Held Up

A thin man in his early 20's did not have film in mind when he approached the Fotomat store at 290 El Camino Real, San Bruno, last Wednesday.

He displayed a sawed-off shotgun and demanded that the clerk on duty, Susie Hettinger of Foster City, hand over the cash on hand, San Bruno police report.

Police said he escaped on foot at 11:30 a.m., with $50 and was last seen near the intersection of Chapman Avenue and El Camino.

Police are looking for a man with wavy, shoulder-length hair, brown eyes and a slight beard growth.

It's 'Surprise' Day

Today is "Surprise Entertainment Day" again for the Daly City Senior Citizens club meeting at the Lincoln Park Memorial Club House.

Mrs. Louise Buttle, the publicity chairwoman for the group, indicated that the first "surprise," which featured Tony Kutner, was such a success that a capacity crowd is expected to be on hand for today's event.

Louanne Heath

Membership is open to anyone in Daly City who is over 50 years of age.

If you would like to attend today's meeting, which begins at 11 a.m., call the Daly City Park and Recreation Department for information.

WHILE WE ARE ON the subject of the Park and

Rollerskating Events Planned for Youths

The Daly City Recreation Department is sponsoring a rollerskating outing to the Rolladium rollerskating rink in San Mateo. All children between the ages of 7 and 18 years are invited to participate.

Sign-ups for Aug. 2 will be taken at Westlake Park, Our Lady of Mercy Playground, Palisades Park, M. H. Tobias Playground, M. P. Brown Playground, Westmoor Park, Daniel Webster Playground, Northridge Park, F.D.R. Playground and Skyline Playground.

Sign-ups for Aug. 4 will be taken at Serramonte High School, Gellert Park, Colma School, Marchbanks Park, The War Memorial Community Center, Lincoln Park, George Washington Playground, Panorama Playground and Bayshore Playground.

Recreation Department, the people who have organized "Summer '77" for the city's young people, want you to know that this is the week for the "Krazy Olympics" featuring competitors from all the playgrounds.

SOME PEOPLE just don't ever seem to run out of energy or require a rest. Good examples of those perpetually in action types are the members of the Friends of the Library Book Pricing Committee. The committee is continuing to meet each week during the summer to prepare books for the big sale planned in October.

Those pricing books for the Harvest Book Fair include John Palmer, Mrs. Olga Canada, Mrs. Lois Manbert, Mrs. Virginia Tierney, Mrs. Denise Schwarzbach, Mrs. Cecilia Enright, Mrs. Kay Howard, Mrs. Eileen Winter, Mrs. Virginia Duckett and Mrs. Gertrude Kendree.

WINDING UP a week-long visit with local families are Chinese Girl Scouts Gilda Gau, Julie Chang and Bi Hwa Lui, representing the Taiwan Girl Scout Association of the Republic of China.

Dr. and Mrs. John Connolly and their four children; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steward and their daughter Jane, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hale have been hosting the girls since their arrival in this area on July 20.

During their stay in the United States the girls have been traveling to camps to teach Chinese games, hand arts and music to American Scouts. In addition they have done some sightseeing, lived in American homes and learned about scouting in this country from the girls they have been meeting.

Their visit was made possible by the Girl Scouts Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

HOME AGAIN and off again might easily be the motto for those senior citizens who belong to the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica!

Just back from a junket to Nevada's gaming spots, the committee in charge of activities has set up the next outing. Slated for the last week in August, the trip will be a one-day visit to Great America.

Reservations are now being accepted — it is necessary to know early how many are going so the right size bus can be reserved — and if you would like to be a tour member call now and mail your deposit. The total cost for the day will be $13.75.

Community Digest

City Clerk Appointed

President Donna Culbertson of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks has announced the appointment of Anna Ohlendorf, city clerk of Daly City, to serve on the IIMC Publication Awards Committee for 1977-78.

In making the appointment, Mrs. Culbertson said, "I have asked Anna to accept this committee assignment because of her experience, dedication and interest in advancing the professionalization of the office of municipal clerk."

The International Institute of Municipal Clerks is the 3,700-member association of city, village, town, township and borough clerks in the United States, Canada and nine other countries. Mrs. Ohlendorf has been city clerk of Daly City since Feb. 1, 1963, has been a member of IIMC since May, 1965, and is a former member of the International Board of Directors from 1973-1976.

Carcione To Appear

Greengrocer Joe Carcione will appear at the San Mateo County Fair & Floral Fiesta at 2:30 p.m. on July 30 and at 7 p.m. Aug. 6.

He will clue fairgoers in on selecting the most seasonable and economical fruits and vegetables and will give nutrition tips and discuss endangered fruit species.

American Hosts

The Art Montenegro family of Brisbane will be hosting Hans-Joachim Ramberger of Germany from July 31 through Aug. 9.

They are participating in the American Host Foundation exchange program, headquartered in Garden Grove, Calif.

Feats of Clay

San Francisco State University's ceramics classes, taught by Charles McKee, assistant professor of art, range from beginning to advanced and will run from Aug. 1 through 19.

There are still four courses open for this summer. All courses are worth three credits and meet five days a week. The cost is $36 per credit. Those interested may register in person up until the day the class meets. For more information, call 469-1373.

Unclaimed Items To Be Auctioned

Approximately 40,000 items, made into 900 lots, will be placed on the auction block by the San Francisco Post Office.

Unclaimed merchandise such as clothing, jewelry, sporting goods, stereo equipment, office supplies, cameras, sewing machines, all types of sundries, televisions, automotive supplies and hardware are only some of the items available.

This public postal auction will be held July 28 in the Polk Hall in the Civic Auditorium beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The merchandise may be seen at a display at Polk Hall the day before the auction from 8:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

These items, for the most part, are a result of poor packaging and insufficient or improper addressing.

Realtors Support Art-Rise

The North San Mateo County Board of Realtors has voted to donate funds in support of Art-Rise.

Art-Rise, a local group headed by Lois Nierenberg, is dedicated to bringing art and culture to the North County.

Art-Rise is currently conducting a major talent search in the area to identify and encourage local artists to form a theater troupe, an orchestra, chamber groups, poetry forums, panels and symposiums.

The group is also planning to produce musicals, paint murals, sculpt and teach art classes.

Le Pacini

Always on the lookout for winning bar bets, I have this week come up with a sort of shaggy dog triviality game in that even if your antagonists guess right, it will most likely take them all evening, in which case they will probably be so well oiled that they will have forgotten what the bet was in the first place.

The question is simple: What sons of former major leaguers are currently on big league rosters? Well, there are nine — count 'em — nine (which may be an all-time record), but I guarantee that there are two that only your true, totally sober expert will be able to get.

There are seven reasonably easy ones:

BUDDY BELL — Cleveland third baseman, son of Gus Bell, who made his mark as a slugging All-Star outfielder with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, but who also put in time toward the end of his 15-year career with the Mets and the Milwaukee Braves. Buddy, whose real name is David Gus, is in his sixth big league year.

BOB BOONE — Stanford grad and catcher for the Philadelphia Phillies, also in his sixth year. He's the son of Ray Boone, who gained his reputation as a Cleveland shortstop, but who in the later years of his 13 seasons in the bigs became a proficient third baseman and then a slugging firstbaseman with a string of teams: Detroit, the White Sox, KC, the Red Sox and the Milwaukee Braves.

JOE COLEMAN — He's currently a local boy, pitching for the As, and is a junior who followed in his father's footsteps, throwing the ball for a living. In fact, both father and son pitched for Detroit, the difference being that Joe Jr., had his best years at Detroit, twice a 20-game winner there, while his father pitched only 17 games for the Tigers, ending his career there in 1955. Father Joe lasted for 10 years and pitched mainly for the Athletics, and then Baltimore before Detroit. The son broke in with Washington, and was with the Cubs last year before coming to Oakland. He is in his 13th year.

MIKE HEGAN — Actually, Mike retired from the Brewers just last week. He was a great, rather light hitting first baseman-outfielder. He holds the major league record for most consecutive errorless games by a first baseman — 178. Hegan broke in with the Yankees and then knocked around for 11 plus seasons with the original Seattle expansion team, the Brewers and the As.

His father was Jim Hegan, Cleveland's great defensive catcher during the fifties era of great Indian pitching, and one of the stars on that Cleveland team that won 111 games in 1954 to break the Yankee stranglehold on the American league. Like his son, he was also a weak hitter, but he lasted for 17 years and — here's another piece of trivia that only the most stalwart Giants fan will remember — he caught 21 games for the Giants in 1959.

ROY SMALLEY — Also a junior, and also playing the same position as his father. He is a smooth fielding shortstop with Minnesota who broke in with Texas two years ago. His father played for 11 years with the Cubs, Braves and Phillies. He is also the nephew of Twins' manager Gene Mauch.

DEL UNSER — You really have to be an old Pacific Coast League fan to get this one, because while father Al was a catcher with Detroit and Cincy for four war years, he was at his best in the old PCL, mainly with Hollywood. Del, a fine defensive outfielder, is in his 10th year, now with Montreal. He broke in with Washington, went to Cleveland, had a few really good years with the Phils and Mets.

BUMP WILLS — This Texas rookie second baseman is currently one of the favorites for AL Rookie of the Year, and is, of course, the son of the most famous of all the fathers, Maury Wills. What more need be said?

Now we come to the two kids who are going to win you those free drinks.

MILT MAY — The fine young Detroit catcher, who broke in with Pittsburgh in 1970 and couldn't get past Manny Sanguillen, so was traded to Houston and then the Tigers, is the son of Merrill (Pinky) May, Philadelphia third baseman from 1939-43 who hardly anybody ever remembers.

LYMAN BOSTICK — This is really dirty pool, but legitimate, I think. Bostick, now in his third year as the Twins' sharp hitting center fielder, is the son of Lyman Bostick, a slick first baseman for 10 years for the Birmingham Black Barons, Chicago American Giants and New York Cubans, all big league teams in the great Negro leagues.

There are others on which you can win technical bets if you really want to be a rat instead of a friend. Three sons of former big leaguers are currently on the farms of major league teams: Eddie Ford, shortstop son of Yankee pitching great and Hall of Famer Whitey Ford (Eddie's with Boston); Dale Berra, a very promising Pirate third baseman who is the son of another great Yankee and Hall of Famer, Yogi Berra; and Matt Keough, an Oakland farmhand infielder who is the son of former Red Sox and Seals' outfielder, Marty Keough. He is also the nephew of Joe Keough, who played outfield for Oakland and KC from 1966-72.

And don't forget that Eddie Montague, Jr., the National League umpire, is a Daly City boy and the son of the man who signed Willie Mays and who put in several years as a Cleveland infielder before he became a Giant super scout. And that Rich Chiles, a Minnesota utility outfielder, is a cousin of George Kelly, the Hall of Fame first baseman about whom we recently did a series of columns.

SO, YOU WANT COMMENTS on the All-Star game? The American League pitching staff was a joke, and if Sparky Anderson HAD to leave Willie McCovey off the team, why did he choose Willie Montanez as the substitute first baseman when local boy Keith Hernandez was around. Hernandez was hitting as well as Montanez, had never made the team before, and besides, Montanez can't carry Keith's glove.

As for Gary Lavelle, I'm so glad that he looked good in front of the national audience, because West Coast players just don't get the important Eastern recognition unless they play in Los Angeles, and because Lavelle is a nice guy. He's one of the few Giants who will voluntarily go to speak to kids' groups without asking for payment or favors.

I don't mean to down-play Jackie Robinson and the week baseball devoted to his memory during the All-Star break, but when is baseball going to get around to honoring Eddie Klepp, who was the first white man to break into the Negro leagues? That's right. He played for the Cleveland Buckeyes of the Negro American League in the summer of '46.

LOCAL NOTES: Pacifica's 84-year-old golfer-de luxe, Elmer Harris, was recognized in the July 4 issue of "Sports Illustrated" for his several Northern California Golf Association Senior Tournament championships.

Mo Turner, Terra Nova's girl basketball whiz, managed to tally seven points in the Northern California all-star basketball game, even though her squad lost to the south at Santa Clara.

Five Leagues Load the Bases

The Daly City Recreation Division has completed four weeks of softball competition in five leagues of play.

In the Eastern Division, Morrow Nut House and the Up and Coming teams are leading the league with unblemished records. In other Eastern Division action, Rick's Raiders defeated Dario's Fertilizers 14 to 2 behind the bats of Dennis Davis (4 for 5) and Rick Matosich (3 for 4).

The Mixed Breeds downed Bayshore Church 21 to 18 in a real hitters' game. The Mixed Breeds were assisted by the fine hitting of Mike Rogers 4 for 5, Steve Rogers 3 for 5 and Mike Wedemeyer 3 for 5. Dario's Fertilizers played excellent defense in shooting out the Lucky Lions 7-0. The big hit of the game was a three-run homer by Joe Berriatua. Rick's Raiders edged Bayshore Church 10-6 with some excellent defensive work by their entire team. Dario's lead by Mike Herr's 4 for 5 with six RBIs defeated Bayshore Church 17 to 7.

In the Veterans League, the Westlake French Cleaners and the Corpus Christi Reds remain undefeated. The Westlake French Cleaners defeated a tough Barnacle team which held on tenaciously until the big bats of Frank Lopez, John Candan, Jim Stone and Dean Smith turned the tide for a 10-7 victory. The Barnacles had three hits from Pete Zazzo and two each by Boots, Steve Geramoni and Ed Guzman. The Vets claimed their first win by downing J & J Plumbing 19 to 3. The Federales and J & J Plumbing played a nine-inning 19 to 19 tie game that saw J & J come back from a 17 to 7 deficit to tie the game up.

The "B" League North continues to be led by "Team," which remains undefeated. Team downed Dr. Pepper 16 to 4 as Team came up with a 21-hit attack that was led by the homers of Bob Hermasello and Tom Charlton. In other action, Tiny's edged the Goodtime Boys 8 to 6 behind a two-run homer by Jim MacEvoy.

The Goodtime Boys came back with a 17 to 16 squeaker over the Local Yokels. Steve Geramoni's four hits, Gary Clardella's great defense, Dan Caffaretta's base running and Ron Sanquineti's inspirational play paced the Goodtime Boys.

Tiny's John Olsen washed out the French Cleaners' chances for a victory when he hit a big triple and then came up with a back-handed catch to pace Tiny's to a 4 to 1 victory over the Cleaners. The Westlake French Cleaners came back at the expense of the Goodtime boys by defeating them 7 to 6 in nine innings.

In other action, Dr. Pepper defeated Tiny's 14 to 0 and Crown Colony claimed its first victory by defeating Westlake French Cleaners 24 to 7.

In the Big League, Miller Time remains undefeated after scoring nine runs in the top of the seventh to capture a come-from-behind victory over Serra Stereo by a final score of 17-9. Mike Bianchi led Miller Time with a booming homer. The Westlake Boys, led by the bat of Ralph Sands, defeated Mals 5 to 4. The Regal Selects, using excellent defense, defeated La Borinquena 15-2. Jim McCarthy with four hits led the Westlake Boys to a 13 to 6 win over Serra Stereo.

'BEAN BALL'

South San Francisco's Randy Rico dives back toward first base during North Peninsula DiMaggio League game and gets "beaned" for his troubles.

Millbrae Kevin Cronin makes a grab for the ball. Millbrae upset the host SSF club 3-1 in the Wednesday night contest.

DiMaggio Upset Millbrae Tips SSF

Millbrae PAL upset host South San Francisco 3-1 Wednesday night in North Peninsula Joe DiMaggio League action.

Millbrae (8-5) is now two full games behind South City (10-3) in the league race. The two clubs square off Sunday at 11 a.m. at Mills High in a double-header.

South City needs to win only one game to capture the round-robin title. However, if Millbrae sweeps then it will get the nod by virtue of three consecutive wins over SSF.

Meanwhile, Flying Goose (7-4), Eureka Federal Savings (6-7) and San Bruno (6-7) are currently engaged in a three-way battle for the two remaining playoff spots.

Flying Goose defeated host San Bruno 11-7 in a wild contest Wednesday evening. Also, host Eureka edged Lou's 66 2-1.

South City righthander Rich Bordin gave up only three hits while striking out 10 and walking four. But three of those walks came in the first inning as Millbrae jumped out to a 2-0 lead.

Nickas slammed a three-run homer in the third and added a two-run shot in the fourth to go along with a two-run single.

San Bruno, sparked by Greg Funk's two-run homer, scored six times in the distance scattering six hits with seven strikeouts and seven bases-on-balls.

SSF managed only one run as Dave Rosaia led off the sixth with a triple and then scored on Jose Martinez' sacrifice fly.

Flying Goose second baseman Mike Nickas ruined San Bruno with three hits, including two home runs, and seven runs-batted-in.

Nickas slammed a three-run homer in the third and added a two-run shot in the fourth to go along with a two-run single.

San Bruno, sparked by Greg Funk's two-run homer, scored six times in

Rael's Place Still Champ

After three weeks of league play in the 1977 Women's Softball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, Rael's Place is the only undefeated team.

New Game Introduced

Co-sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, the Pepsi-Cola/NBA Hotshot "game" is a new twist on a very familiar playground game. Youngsters race against time to score as many points as possible shooting from five "hotspots" marked on the court. It's fun to play and easy to score.

The competition is designed for youngsters between nine and 18 years of age. Participants must be nine years old on or before May 1, 1976. There are three separate divisions for both boys and girls. They are: 9-12 years; 13-15 years; and 16-18 years.

Contests will be held at

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Garden Restaurant County Fairgrounds

A gleaming new $200,000 completely remodelled GARDEN RESTAURANT AND COCKTAIL LOUNGE will be the crowning touch to the 1977 SAN MATEO COUNTY FAIR AND FLORAL FIESTA, July 25 through August 6. Visitors will enjoy one of the finest contemporary restaurants and cocktail lounges in the Bay Area. Grass green carpets run the length of the restaurant interior. Walls are of alternating panels of natural wood and oatmeal vinyl grasscloth. Antique mirrors form the backdrop to the marbleized cocktail bar, featuring a 22-foot automated service area and back bar. Expansive picture windows are draped in colorful imported linen. The entire decor brings the garden greenery and midway merryment indoors. The THEATER FLAMENCO'S versatile dance troupe opened the fair, July 25, with this year's "South of the Border" theme. The internationally renowned singer ANDY RUSSELL and honky-tonk pianist JO ANN CASTLE headline the first week's entertainment. The stars' favorite balancing act, MURILLO, ULISES & LUISA will complete the July 26-31 Fiesta Bowl lineup. The ever-popular INK SPOTS will open the second week of "Showtime '77," August 1-3. The RAY HACKETT ORCHESTRA and the JOHNNY VAUGHN TRIO also provide musical backing. Entertainment is the keynote of the fair.

GREEN-UP-TIME

Finocchio's Comic Delights Audiences

VAL DE VERE, a hilarious comic delighting audiences at worldfamous FINOCCHIO'S, is endowed with the gift of gab and fluttering eyes. His campy personality and witty jokes keep the pace lively during the four shows nightly, except Mondays. The entire Finocchio show is a must-see for a night of unusual entertainment in San Francisco. LYON'S restaurants (San Mateo, Millbrae, San Bruno) are celebrating "Circus Days" by offering Complete Dinner Specials at unbelievably low prices. For an exciting blend of fresh strawberries, coconut, rum or chablis, order a Lyon Tamer, $3 including stuffed lion (without lion, $1.50). If you'd like to enter Lyon's Sweepstakes, no purchase is necessary. But hurry, the offer closes August 14. The recent Crab Cioppino Dinner at THE SKYLARK restaurant was such a big success that BIG AL, the pert, little chef, is going to offer another of her gourmet specialties. A Chicken Cacciatore Dinner will be featured on Saturday, July 30, from 5:30 to 11 p.m., and the tab for the full course Italian feast will be $5.95. Bring the family and a big "appetito," says Big Al.

Trainor and Harlow 1938 Look-Alikes

An original painting of beautiful movie star Jean Harlow, which now hangs at the far end of the bar at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant in Redwood City, is certainly creating a lot of comment. Countless diners have asked the bartenders, waitresses, and even HELEN TRAINOR, mother of restaurant co-owners MARY LOU FOX and THERESA URBAN, if it is an early portrait of Helen. The resemblance is uncanny, to say the least. However, few people know that the lovely lady did model professionally in 1938, the year the Harlow portrait was painted. ROMANO'S in Rockaway Beach serves a delicious Chicken Saute Sec with Fresh Mushrooms — a la carte or as a complete dinner (includes soup, green salad, a choice of fries, spaghetti or ravioli, bread and dessert). The outdoor deck overlooking the lagoon at SENOR PEPE'S new Mexican restaurant and cantina in Foster City is proving to be very popular these warm days for luncheon and balmy evenings for dinner. One of the most generous free drive-up bonuses in downtown Reno is available at LEE ISAAC'S FIRST CHANCE CHEVROLET, located in Verdi, Nevada, just across the Calif.-Nevada state line on Route 1-80. Also, he has a special Monte Carlo package for $2 — valued at $14. Be sure to bring the ad with you for more goodies.

Armanino Family Works Together

If NICK, the handsome head waiter at the FLOWER MART restaurant, looks familiar, it is because he is the son of co-owner BILL ARMANINO. Since attending College of San Mateo, Nick has been working in the family business for the past year. THE TRI SOUNDS, currently appearing at the BAYHILL LOUNGE, San Bruno, is the group giving their musical all five nights a week. From old standards to Top 40 tunes, the group is filling the bill when it comes to crowd pleasers. A visiting guest band will be appearing this Sunday and Monday nights. Come in and give a listen. An easy way to reach NICK GUST'S Rockaway Beach restaurant site is by way of Freeway 280, past the Serramonte Shopping Center, and over to Highway One. Enroute, you can decide in which one of his restaurants you will dine (NICK'S, THE MOONRAKER, CAPTAIN CHARLES). Nearly $700 in casino bonuses, including cash, lucky bucks, meal credits, drinks and free play tokens, plus many other extras, may be enjoyed when purchasing the HOLIDAY FUNSHINE Reno package for just $15. This Reno casino program, which is valid through Dec. 31, is designed for couples visiting the Reno area for a minimum 14-hour stay.

Rosebud's On Geary Before-Theater Stop

ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, on Geary next to the Hotel St. Francis in San Francisco, is a popular dining spot for theatergoers and entertainers alike. There is continuous food service daily from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. (Sundays from 9 a.m. to midnight). So you can stop by for an epicurean feast before the theater, or for a light supper afterward. PHIL LEHR has just added several new dishes to his repertoire of gourmet treats at PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower, Taylor Street entrance. We think you will particularly enjoy his Lamb Rack Wellington and Chicken Oscar. For outstanding food and service, VINCE'S SEAFOOD AND ITALIAN restaurant rates among the Peninsula's best. Appetizers, soups, salads, casserole dishes, eggs and omelettes, steaks, Italian specialties, seafood selections, sandwiches all are available on the menu seven days a week.

FASHION CONSCIOUS

The YWCA Teens of the San Mateo County YWCA will present a fashion show at the El Rancho Hotel in Millbrae on July 30, beginning with a luncheon buffet at noon. Proceeds will be used to develop programs for teen women in the organization. Trying out a few fashion possibilities are (from left) Susie Timko, Michele Matis, Rosanna DaSilva and Theresa Huffman.

Little Favor For SP Offer

"Well, the railroad is consistent and persistent," John Mauro chuckled today over the latest offer from Southern Pacific to pay for buses to replace its San Jose-to-San Francisco commuter trains.

The San Mateo County Transit District general manager was talking about the offer SP made Tuesday to pay $8 million toward the buses in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties, if only the state Public Utilities Commission would let the railroad end its Peninsula commuter service, on which it claims it is losing $10 million a year.

The SP move reportedly has not caught on with commuters either, and has brought back memories of the ill-fated "van pool" offer from SP last year, in which the rail line said it would buy a fleet of vans and assign them to small commuter groups.

That proposal would have cost an estimated $8 million. Now the ante is up to $8 million, with SP saying that up to $40 million could be made available to the San Mateo and Santa Clara County transit districts for new buses with federal funds added.

That would buy 470 new buses, based on the per-vehicle price being paid by SanTrans on a 74-bus order awarded last spring.

"They're apparently trying to get out of the commute business at any price," Mauro remarked, noting also that "Obviously, this move is timed to coincide with their petition for abandonment. But we doubt seriously that any of the present rail commuters would favor such a proposal."

The PUC begins hearings on the SP abandonment request Aug. 1. SanTrans officially will be one of the opponents of the abandonment of the 47-mile line, the only urban railroad commute operation left in the country west of Chicago.

"As a transit district we have an obligation to keep all forms of transportation, public and private, in operation, and that is the course set by our board of directors," Mauro said.

Although SanTrans itself began running through-buses from Palo Alto to San Francisco July 2, the district position is that the railroad still is the fastest and most direct way into the city. Future Peninsula corridor transit planning envisions a possible southward BART extension or other rail improvements.

"There's no reason to fear this down now and maybe have to reconstruct it later," Mauro said.

SP has claimed that its commute patronage has dropped from 16,000 riders daily in 1964 to 7,500 today, and that it just isn't worth it anymore. SP Vice-President Alan B. DeMoss reiterated an old position Tuesday, also, that SP doesn't want subsidies, on grounds that if a public transit system must operate at a loss for political or social reasons, then it should be owned and operated by a public agency.

In an effort to keep things going on the rails and perhaps improve patronage, SanTrans has formulated a fare subsidy plan to buy blocks of SP commute tickets and resell them to commuters at reduced rates.

That won't be easy, because the PUC this month gave SP a 25 percent commute fare increase effective Aug. 5.

There won't be time to get the "SanTrans" program underway by then, officials say, so commuters would have to pay the higher rates, at least for awhile.

Mauro said he is to meet with DeMoss and SP attorneys Thursday to iron out what SP says are legal obstacles to the commute plan.

Summer Wedding Bells Ring Far and Near

THE ALEXANDER FRASCOS
(Ann Johnson)

Johnson-Frasco
Friends and relatives of Ann Marie Johnson and Alexander John Frasco gathered recently to witness the couple's marriage at St. Jariath's Catholic Church in Oakland.

The 1 p.m. rites were performed by the Rev. Richard Scott and followed by a reception at the Alpha Phi sorority house in Berkeley. The bride, who attended the University of California at Berkeley, belongs to Alpha Phi as well as Beta Alpha Psi sorority.

Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson of Daly City, and Alexander is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frasco of Berkeley.

For her wedding, the bride wore a long silk gown styled with re-embroidered lace, a high neckline and a long train. Her attendants included two sorority sisters, Maryanne Gadhi and Katherine Schmandle, who shared bridesmaid duties with Maureen Smith and Pamela McDonald. Suzanne Drakulich was the honor attendant.

Best man for his brother was Christopher Frasco, and ushers were Bryan Johnson, brother of the bride, Neil Cummings, Bruce Krieger and Thomas Meyer.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Mendocino and are making their first home in Berkeley.

The bridegroom was graduated from Berkeley High School, UCLA and California State University, Hayward, where he received his master's degree. His bride studied locally at Mercy High School.

Arrighi-Wright

Honeymooning in Hawaii before establishing a home in Burlingame are Donald Hartley Wright and his bride, the former Diana Patricia Arrighi, who were married at St. Matthew's Catholic Church in San Mateo on Saturday.

The 2:30 p.m. rites were followed by a reception at the Villa Hotel.

Diana, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Pearl of South San Francisco, was given in marriage by her stepfather, Bertram Pearl. She wore a white Qiana Empire gown with a stand-up collar, fitted sleeves and open work detailing at the sleeves and

Reception Staged At Hotel Site

The Villa Hotel in San Mateo was the setting for the reception which followed the marriage of Denise Bava and Joseph Fernekas.

The couple exchanged vows earlier this month at All Souls Catholic Church in South San Francisco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bava of South San Francisco, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. R.R. Fernekas of Walnut Creek.

A South San Francisco graduate, the bride earned her bachelor's degree at California State University, Chico. She and her husband are both teachers in the South San Francisco School District.

The bridegroom, who has been living in South San Francisco, was graduated from Serra High School and the University of San Francisco.

Denise asked her cousin, Leann Pozzi of South San Francisco, to be her honor attendant. Bridesmaids included Francis Adams and Donna Flanagan.

Captain Robert W. Fernekas, who is stationed at Fort Bliss, Tex., stood with his brother as best man. Ushering duties were shared by David Pozzi, Carl Johnson, Jerry Stenson and Lee Simpson.

The newlyweds, who honeymooned in Hawaii, are making their first home in South San Francisco. The bride is the granddaughter of Palmiro Pozzi, and the bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Mary Hein.

after the rites at the Santo Christo Hall in South San Francisco.

Christina was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Earl Olivier. She wore a white lace and satin gown accented with a short veil and carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies, baby's breath and fern.

Linda Olivier, the maid of honor for her sister, set the style of dress for the bridal party in a full length yellow chiffon gown. She and the other attendants chose bouquets of daisies and baby's breath interspersed with fern.

Pamela and Regina Olivier and Alana Lanzarin, the bride's other sisters, shared secondary attendants' duties with Leonora Artale, sister of the bridegroom, and Roxanna Hicks, the bride's cousin.

Erica Olivier performed flower duties for her cousin's wedding and Rodney Tostado, another cousin of the bride, carried the rings.

David Artale stood with his brother as best man, and Gary Boutte, the bride's godson, seated guests with Bruce Buschner, Joseph Taverna, Cameron Beach and Samuel Lee. The bridegroom, a member of the Big Brothers of America, is the latter's big brother.

The new Mrs. Artale is a student at the College of San Mateo, and her husband is a transit security officer with the police department. He serves as vice chairman of the Steering Committee for Big Brothers.

Flemer-Hesselein
All Saints' Episcopal Church in Princeton, N.J., was the setting for the recent marriage of Harriet D. "Heidi" Flemer of that city and Richard L. Hesselein of South San Francisco.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Flemer III of Princeton, was given in marriage by her father. The Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber performed the double ring ceremony which was followed by a wedding luncheon at the Flemer home.

Mary H. Lee of Cambridge, Mass., was the maid of honor and David L. Stone of South San Francisco served as best man.

Bridesmaids were Louise W. Flemer, sister of the bride, Sara K. Paterson of Kingston, N.J., and Lisa Waag of San Francisco.

Ushers were Charles P. Hesselein, brother of the bridegroom, William Flemer IV, brother of the bride, and Patrick T. Higgins of Pacifica.

The bride was graduated from Princeton Day School and Middlebury College where she majored in English literature.

Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hesselein of South San Francisco, was graduated from Humboldt State University where he majored in botany.

The couple is at home in Kingston, N.J., after a honeymoon in the Great Smoky Mountains.

Owens-Gamache
The Hawaiian Islands were the honeymoon destinuation of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gamache who were married recently at St. Veronica's Church in South San Francisco.

The bride is the former Jeanne Marie Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Owens of South San Francisco. She was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gamache of Daly City.

For the 2:30 p.m. ceremony, conducted by the Rev. Daniel Derry, Jeanne wore a white chiffon gown by Bianchi which was decorated with pearls and lace. A crown of pearls and lace caught her veil.

Mary Ann Loul, the maid of honor, wore an aqua gown with a chiffon cape. Similar costumes were chosen by bridesmaids Noreen Brosnan, Beverly Franza and Kit Myers.

Donald Gamache was his brother's best man, and another brother David Gamache, shared ushering duties with Mark Owens, brother of the bride, and Lawrence Martinelli.

Foster Family Needed to Make Little John Smile

John is 2 years old. He needs a foster mother, someone he can love and trust.

He's blond, blue-eyed, and during the two brief years of his life he has experienced misery, confusion and chaos.

That's why he cries easily. John does not speak much, though he has no neurological problems. He's healthy and eats well.

But his confusion is obvious as he tries to comfort himself by rocking back and forth, and it's hard to make little John smile.

This is only one of the stories about numerous San Mateo County children and adolescents who need foster homes, a haven from neglectful and chaotic home situations, according to Mary Ann Tse, foster home developer of the county Health and Welfare Department.

She explains homes are particularly needed for brothers and sisters who are anxious to stay together. They have each other to hold onto during this time of crisis in their young lives.

Mary Ann Tse tells the story of Mary, 5, and her brother, Steven, 2. They want to be together in some home. Some of these children have gone from home to home, as little John, for instance, who already has lived in three homes and now must find a fourth.

Mary is brown-haired, fair skinned and pretty, bright, sensitive. She cries easily and needs lots of mothering kindness. Steven is a bright little guy too, and he's easy to handle. He has not yet been too emotionally bruised by a distressed family background.

And then there's Wendy. She's almost 4. She needs a family which can understand why she is aggressive sometimes, why she frowns so much at her young age and why she is so angry and hurt. Sometimes she wets the bed at night.

Wendy wants to be with her mother, but her mother cannot handle her, and Wendy has been threatened with physical abuse and she has been neglected. She needs a foster family to reassure her people are not all bad and the world is not such a terrible place in which a 4-year-old must live.

Families who can provide homes for these children will be given financial help to meet the cost of their charges' care.

Those who can open their hearts and homes are asked to contact Mary Ann Tse by telephoning the foster home developer at the San Mateo County Health and Welfare Department.

THEY'VE GOT THE SPIRIT

This year, for the first time, a Human Relations Leadership Workshop was offered for the cheerleaders of the Jefferson Union High School District attended class at the Westmoor campus. They were given the opportunity to practice cheers, meet new friends, raise money for uniforms, and develop a model role for cheerleaders. As part of the class the cheerleaders attended a summer camp at U.C. Santa Cruz, sponsored by the United Spirit Association. Each of the schools won awards for the excellence of their performances, but more important, the district was given a special award for the girls' unity and spirit.

Mayors Question Council's Role

By VERN KROGH

Members of the Council of Mayors of San Mateo County, in a soul-searching session Friday night, decided maybe they should do something to improve their own image.

Mayor Marguerite Leipzig of Redwood City, chairman of the council, warned the organization may be getting the image of doing nothing more than going to dinner once a month and drinking cocktails before.

Councilman Nat Landez of Woodside, at the Council's previous meeting, urged the organization to do something to make itself more effective and warned that the recently organized Congress of Elected Officials may duplicate the group's work and do a better job.

Mrs. Leipzig agreed that she had heard rumors the Mayors' Council has become ineffective.

Councilman Robert H. Bury of Redwood City charged that the group cannot be effective unless city councils give their mayors more authority to speak out and take positions at meetings.

"A lot of cities don't give their mayors that kind of confidence and authority," he maintained.

Mrs. Leipzig suggested that the mayors should consider their goals for the coming year at their meeting next month.

Speaking at the meeting, held at the Foster City Recreation Center, were Louise Giersch, chairman of the Metropolitan Commission, and Robert Watts, its general manager.

Watts asserted that with a straight 11-cent-per-gallon gas tax, the state is barely able to keep its head above water to meet its transportation needs.

He said San Mateo County's share of $10.6 million annually in federal aid highway funds is only enough to provide landscaping, keep noise down and complete construction of projects that have already been started.

In addition to road construction, gas tax revenue is used to finance the Department of Motor Vehicles and the California Highway Patrol, he said.

Beginning in 1978, BART will limit wage increases to 5.5 per cent annually despite the opposition of labor, Watts reported.

He said that money from increased bridge tolls should be used to complete the construction of the Highway 92 interchange over the Bayshore Freeway, as the highway provides direct access to the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge, and as the San Mateo Transit District is planning a bus route across the bridge to connect San Mateo with the East Bay.

As far as gas tax funded projects go, Watts told the mayors that San Mateo County has little hope in the immediate future because the state Department of Transportation has given high priorities to other projects throughout the state, such as the improvement of "Blood Alley" on Highway 101 south of San Jose.

Noisy Event Set For State Fair

Nearly 100 specially modified and stock tractors are expected to compete in two tractor pull shows scheduled Aug. 28 at California's Great State Fair, Aug. 19 through Sept. 6. The shows are scheduled for 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Rodeo Arena.

Fairgoers make it a special point to watch the tractor pull contest — one can not avoid hearing it since it is described as the noisiest show at the fair.

Mammoth modified tractors, many of them equipped with dual engines which burn a special alcohol fuel, pull an enormous weighted sled down a 250 foot track in the contest. The sled is designed with shifting weights that apply more dead weight to the straining tractor as it moves down the course. The tractor able to pull the heaviest sled the farthest distance wins.

"Tractor pulling is the fastest growing sport in California," says Olin Stauffer, President of the Pacific Tractor Pullers Association which is sponsoring the show. "Each year the competition gets a little stiffer as the operators redesign their tractors to develop more traction and pull."

Pacifica Boy Drowns

An 18-year-old Pacifica youth drowned Saturday while swimming in Lake Berryessa, the Napa County coroner's office said today.

The youth, Dean M. Stewart, disappeared under water at about 10:40 a.m. Saturday, the coroner's office said. His body was recovered by a diver at 11:26 a.m. The coroner's office said Stewart had been swimming in a small cove about 400 yards north of the main point area of Marina Resort.

His drowning marks the 133rd such incident recorded at Lake Berryessa.

Services for the 1977 Oceana High School, Pacifica, graduate will be Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. at the Nauman and Lincoln Chapel by the Sea Cemetery, 801 Oceana Blvd., Pacifica, followed by a Mass of Christian Burial at 11 a.m. at the Good Shepherd's Catholic Church. The Rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the chapel, with burial to be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

A native of Texas, Stewart had lived in Pacifica for the past 16 years.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Stewart Jr., a brother, Eric Stewart, and two sisters, Teena and Linda Stewart, all of Pacifica. He also is survived by two grandmothers, Elizabeth Stewart of Kentucky and Evelyn Guthnecht of Michigan.

Marina Petitions Declared Invalid

By JANET PARKER
Petitions aimed at forcing a referendum on Oyster Point Marina expansion and containing the signatures of more than 2,000 South San Francisco residents are invalid, according to City Atty. John Noonan.

Noonan's findings — made public Wednesday night in a report to the City Council — add a whole new twist to the marina controversy. Residents who turned in those petitions, members of the United Taxpayers Association, are already working on legal action that would force Noonan to prove in court his contention that the petitions are worthless.

Meanwhile, the City Council is faced with a major dilemma concerning the future of the proposed $8.4 million expansion project.

Councilmen told Noonan to proceed with investigating the situation and perhaps devise a ballot measure of the city's own.

It appears that the wording of that ballot measure — if eventually approved by the council for a March ballot — will be an easy target for challenge by the UTA.

South San Francisco has been eyeing expansion of its marina for four years. On June 15, the City Council authorized its city manager to sign an agreement for consulting engineering services as well as an agreement with the San Mateo County Harbor District for financial assistance.

UTA, which has been challenging the financial feasibility of the marina all along, immediately began circulating petitions to force a referendum. Those petitions, which appeared to have the required number of signatures, were submitted to the city clerk last week.

Since then, Noonan has read the petitions and decided they are not legal, although UTA attorney Jim Himmel has said they are.

Noonan claims a referendum must be based upon a legislative action by a governing body and that action, he said, occurred on Sept. 8, 1975, when the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development agreement was signed.

The most recent action, he said, was an administrative act and not subject to a referendum.

Noonan cited a San Mateo County case, Lincoln vs. Law, that established that legal precedent.

He told the council that to allow a ballot measure based on those petitions "would destroy the efficient business administration of the city."

The attorney said the council could be subject to a taxpayers' suit if it put on a ballot something that may be illegal. On the other hand, the council is aware that UTA may file a suit of its own against the city if the referendum election isn't approved.

Councilman William Borba has been in favor of a ballot election all along, and has adamantly opposed the expansion project. He said the council should go ahead and place the issue on a ballot immediately. His motion eventually died for lack of a second.

"I don't think you can, legally," Noonan warned. Even if that ballot measure were overwhelmingly approved by South San Franciscans, it could later be declared invalid, resulting in additional waste of taxpayer money.

"The vote of the people doesn't give it life," Noonan said. He told the council that in 30 days he could have a carefully constructed proposed ballot measure concerning the marina's future for the council's consideration.

"There must be a way to get a measure on the ballot which does not adversely affect our position here and at the same time fulfills the public wishes and the council wishes," Noonan said of the task ahead.

However, there's no guarantee that the city-sponsored ballot measure will satisfy the UTA membership.

UTA leaders Jim Keegan and John Falsarella made that clear in remarks to the council later.

Falsarella said it's a "yes or no" question that should be put on the ballot with no hesitation. He noted that the UTA attorney's opinion was directly in conflict with Noonan's.

They both attacked certain statements of Noonan's during the time petitions were being circulated. At one point, Falsarella said, Noonan advised the city clerk not to accept the petitions unless they included precinct numbers.

But, Noonan explained that he reversed that opinion two hours later, hardly enough time to make any difference during 30 days of signature collecting activity.

UTA leaders also claimed they were not informed by Noonan that they could have turned in more petitions after the bulk were submitted the day before the deadline.

Noonan said the laws have changed and all the referendum petitions must be submitted at one time.

Keegan said after the meeting that their attorney already is preparing a writ of mandate to take the city to court and prove why those petitions should not be validated.

Pacificans Can Expect to Pay Greater Tax in '78

Although the Pacifica City Council is considering budget measures that will drop the city's property tax rate by 50 cents, City Manager Donald Weidner has confirmed that property owners will probably wind up paying more taxes than they did last year.

The Council currently is hammering out a stringent "hold the line" budget which Weidner said is projected to drop the property tax rate by 35 cents, from $2.305 in 1976-77 to an estimated $1.956 in the coming year.

The council also is consid-dering an additional 15-cent property tax rate cut that would drop the rate to $1.806 for 1977-78, using $210,000 of the projected general fund surplus balance of $381,450 which the council just learned about.

Taxpayers would still pay more next year, however, since the average home in Pacifica recently was reassessed at 37 per cent greater rate than last year.

Thus, a resident with a home that was valued at $50,000 last year paid $247.78 in property taxes for 1976-77.

With his home now valued at $68,500, this year that person would pay $300.74 (a 21 per cent increase) if the property tax rate was $1.956, and he would pay $277.67 (a 12 per cent increase) if the property tax rate was $1.806.

The Pacifica City Council still has not locked in its budget for 1977-78, so, the property tax rate has yet to be set.

Deputies Conduct Unusual Drug 'Bus'

Mrs. Amy Tafaya, 24, of 939 Wyandotte Ave., Daly City, was arrested in the courtroom of Municipal Judge Jose Delarios in South San Francisco Wednesday by sheriff's deputies who accused her of throwing some drugs into a prisoners' bus for her husband to pick up.

According to Sheriff's Deputy Milan Radojevich, Mrs. Tafaya was seen by Probation Officer Jerry D. Marr throwing a cigarette package into the sheriff's bus parked at the rear of the Northern Municipal Courtroom. He said Marr took down the license number of the car he had seen Mrs. Tafaya getting out of. Sheriff's Deputy Michael Diltz checked the bus and found a cigarette package containing three balloons containing tranquilizers and sleeping pills.

Marr had described the woman he had seen as blonde and wearing a black jumpsuit. Radojevich said he found her in the courtroom.

According to Radojevich, Mrs. Tafaya admitted her mother-in-law had driven her to the courtroom to see her husband, Larry, who is in custody. He said she admitted throwing the cigarette package into the bus for her husband to pick up.

Mrs. Tafaya was booked at the county jail on a charge of taking narcotics to a jail inmate.

Bruno, Pacifica Residents Injured

Two separate accidents occurred in Pacifica Wednesday night.

At 10:12 p.m., Pacifica police were summoned to Sharp Park Road where they found a motorcyclist lying unconscious in the middle of the road. Police said he still had his helmet on. His motorcycle lay several yards away, police said.

The cyclist was identified by police as Don Shandy, 27, of 1820 Crestwood Drive, San Bruno. He was taken to Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco for treatment of head injuries.

A second accident occurred at 12:26 a.m. today on the Coast Highway 475 feet north of San Pedro Road.

Police said Frances Schirmer, 65, of 190 Rosita Road, Pacifica, has apparently been traveling northbound in a southbound lane when her car slammed into a guard rail on the west side of the road.

She also was taken to Kaiser Hospital for treatment.

A Kaiser Hospital spokeswoman said both victims are in the intensive care unit, but in stable condition.

Animal Lovers

The Peninsula Humane Society needs volunteers who enjoy working with pets and people and have a half day a week to devote.

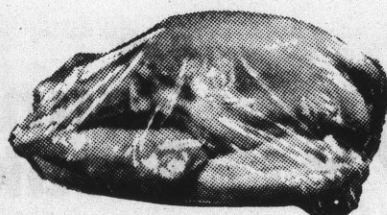

According to Margo Willis, coordinator of volunteer activities, "Right now we have a special need for more volunteers to serve as adoption specialists and as education docents. Training is provided for people who are interested in working with either of these important community service programs."

Mrs. Willis continued, "Individuals who choose to volunteer in pet adoption will be trained to help people select the right pets. This means helping people understand each pet's special needs from exercise to grooming and diet."

Anyone interested in volunteering for training as an adoption specialist or an education docent is invited to contact Margo Willis at 344-7643. Classes begin on Aug. 3.

Pickett Resigns As Health Chief

Dr. George Pickett, director of the San Mateo County Health and Welfare

Department for the past seven years, announced that he will resign his position effective Aug. 13.

Crowd Airs SamTrans Complaints

To hear a stream of 35 speakers tell it, no one is very happy with the San Mateo County Transit District's new Peninsula Mainline service, linking Palo Alto and downtown San Francisco.

It was good-natured at times, but the SamTrans Board of Directors Wednesday night in San Mateo City Hall heard a long list of complaints about missed connections, poor scheduling and tardiness.

The district took over Greyhound Lines service in this county July 2 and changed many of the former Greyhound routes and schedules, a move which in itself brought cries that this could cause agonizing alterations of old habits and lifestyles.

Most of the speakers were North County commuters into San Francisco who told the board they thought the SamTrans bus service to the Civic Center and Financial District in the morning was good but that the afternoon homebound schedules left them a few minutes late for a direct bus and in some cases with as much as a three-hour ordeal of bus connections to get home later.

Many complained that a 4:30 p.m. Z Route bus leaving the Civic Center was too early and left empty and that later buses were overcrowded. District General Manager John T. Mauro replied that this had been taken care of just Wednesday by adding another bus to the route.

Others said the 5:30 p.m. Z bus, the last one of the day direct to San Bruno, was too early.

Some asked for more pickup points in San Francisco, particularly at Market Street and Van Ness Avenue and on 9th and 10th streets, so workers in those areas don't have to walk the long distance to McAllister Street.

Mrs. Shirley Hornbeck of South San Francisco summed up her complaint by saying, "This is the same as the little bus service we had in South San Francisco 10 years ago. We didn't know when it ran or where it went then, either."

Bill Bostwick, a Greyhound driver and one of 137 driving the 50 Greyhound buses under contract to SamTrans, berated the present schedules as being too tight and that the San Francisco International Airport stop on the 7A route isn't necessary for most people. He suggested rerouting the 7R bus to Potrero Street from Bayshore Freeway to take some people from the overcrowded 7S buses and urged a return to the Greyhound routes "to give them what they're used to."

BCDC Approves Bay Plan

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission Thursday gave its approval to a tentative settlement worked out between participants in an eight-year lawsuit to determine who owns the bottom of the bay.

The tentative settlement already has been approved by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, the cities of Burlingame and San Mateo, and Westbay Community Associates.

A hearing of the state Lands Commission to determine whether it will approve the agreement is scheduled for Tuesday at San Mateo City Hall.

The question then goes to San Mateo County Superior Court July 28, for legal sanction.

If approved by all parties, the settlement determines ownership of some 10,000 acres of underwater land along the San Mateo County shoreline, from Burlingame to East Palo Alto.

In a letter to County Manager David Nichols, Pickett said he has accepted a job offered to him by West Virginia Gov. Jay Rockefeller to take over the state's new health department.

"It is a challenging job and it is my home state."

Dr. George Pickett

Pickett said in his letter, "I always figured that after I had seen how everyone else did things, I would go back home and try to return some of the benefits West Virginia gave me. So I have accepted."

Pickett today is attending the executive conference of the American Public Health Association, of which he is president, in Washington, D.C. An announcement of his appointment was scheduled to be made today in West Virginia at noon.

The county's health chief further stated in his letter, "I have often been reminded that I told people I would probably be here for four years. It's been almost seven. They've been exciting and rewarding years for me. I've learned a lot. Now it's time for me to move on."

Pickett told Nichols that he believes San Mateo County is the best-governed, best-managed county in the country.

Pickett notified Nichols

Monday of his decision to resign. He left for Washington later in the day.

Nichols said that he considers Pickett an "outstanding public official" and added that his absence from the county will be a personal and professional loss to him.

The county manager said during his 5½ months here he developed a close personal relationship with Pickett.

Nichols said the health director impressed him with his ability to look at new ways of doing things and his attitude of approaching issues always with an open mind.

Since 1970, Pickett has directed a department which employs half of all the county workers and maintains an annual budget of $80 million.

Nichols said Pickett has family ties in West Virginia. Both his father and brother are physicians there.

No firm plans for replacing Pickett have yet been made, nor has Nichols decided who would be named acting-director. The county manager indicated he considered the directorship of health and welfare a very important position and would proceed carefully in appointing a new permanent director.

Pickett has described himself as a "perpetual student," and approached the San Mateo County position as a "chance to learn something different."

New Airport Chief Raps Antigrowth Talk

Wednesday, July 27, 1977

San Francisco International Airport Director Richard Heath moved boldly in new directions last week, supporting environmental moves yet telling antigrowth speakers to stop distorting facts and spreading half-truths.

The man who was hired away from his job as director of finance for Arkansas was nearly carried from San Francisco City Hall on the shoulders of overjoyed airports commissioners.

"Didn't he handle that well?" asked Commission President Morris Bernstein after Heath suggested that instead of repeated public complaints, the antigrowth group could bring their pleas directly to him.

He will see that the issues are placed on the commission's agenda for public discussion by all concerned, Heath said.

The new director's response came at the end of a meeting which would otherwise have been routine except for changes instituted by Heath.

From now on, said his staff, Airports Commission sessions will start with "management reports" on various aspects of airport activity.

Tuesday, airports commissioners heard Art Commission Vice Chairman Alfred Frankenstein tell them about plans to enrich the new North Terminal with art work. A sculptor has been chosen to create a centerpiece for the main lobby, Frankenstein said.

Competitions will be open to regional artists for works to be shown in more than a dozen other areas.

Airport managers then reported on plans for cargo facilities, and on services of buses and taxis.

Commission members approved calling for bids on an estimated $844,000 worth of signs for roadways in the passenger terminal area, and allotted a number of smaller contracts.

Then Heath asked commission members to outline for him any statements of their policies, so that he and other airport managers were pursuing desired goals.

Commissioners promised to have statements to him by their next meeting, and Heath said he would organize the policies into a working guidebook.

One policy — opposition to supersonic aircraft — Heath said deserved a more immediate action. The commission voted to re-affirm a statement of opposition first adopted in 1970.

Director Heath then asked for and got commission support for a congressional bill now in committee that would require quieter engines on older jets.

Heath said he supports the stricter original version of that law, not the language that has been watered down.

At that point, Susan Smith of San Francisco Tomorrow challenged the airports director and the commission for supposedly not answering communications from her.

She said the commission had not acted on a message sent from the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and claimed that relevant documents were not included in certain airport reports.

Ms. Smith said the airport and the commission had been less than truthful in dealing with the public regarding certain financing, and challenged growth figures and expansion planning.

Handicapped In Plea to HRC

Representatives of the handicapped told the Human Relations Commission Thursday their needs have been ignored in this county and that they are prepared to fight for their civil rights.

Louis Grisell, vice president of the county chapter of California Association of Physically Handicapped, said the chapter is growing and becoming increasingly more vocal in demanding that the rights of the handicapped be met.

Grisell, a San Bruno resident, told of how he and his wife Judy had worked for two years to get the SanTrans Board of Directors to order buses which could accommodate the handicapped in the county.

"For almost a year we worked with the SanTrans staff, but found after that time that they really weren't interested in listening to us," said Grisell. "So we had a quiet demonstration last February and made some pretty severe demands. The directors were shocked."

Demands by the handicapped resulted in a SanTrans program called Redi-Wheels, Grisell said. The program provides special buses for the handicapped, who, if they call the district 24 hours in advance, are afforded front door, bus service.

The Redi-Wheels program, however, has not satisfied the handicapped community, Grisell said.

"We want to be provided the same bus service along fixed routes as everybody else in this county is provided," he added.

Grisell told the commission that negotiations between the handicapped and the SanTrans board resulted in the ordering of 49 new buses with special lifts.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

DAY CAMP FOR THE HANDICAPPED — There is an urgent need for many volunteers to assist handicapped children and young adults in this outdoor recreation program which takes place in August at Coyote Point. Volunteers are the most essential part of the camp because of the time and attention they can give to each camper. They serve from 9:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. daily during a two week session, and there are two sessions to choose from.

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND CRISIS CENTER — Several good typists for a short-term project which runs through Aug. 5.

HEART ASSOCIATION — A person to help record data for the Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation program. The work is done by hand so no typing experience is necessary. There is also a need for general office assistance.

BURLINGAME HACIENDA — A volunteer to accompany the activities director of this convalescent hospital on outings with patients around the Bay Area. The trips will take place on Mondays beginning in August.

NATIONAL COUNCIL ON ALCOHOLISM — Typists to work a three to four hour shift between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Additional information about volunteer needs and about the Summer Youth Program can be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame. The bureau is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and branch offices are located in Redwood City and Daly City.

A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded, in part, by the County of San Mateo.

Students in the San Mateo Union High School District may register for School/Community Service with the Volunteer Bureau.

Private Marina Expansion 'Could Do Better'

By JANET PARKER
A private marina developer told the South San Francisco City Council last week it could turn its proposed $8.4 million Oyster Point Marina expansion over to a private investor and not lose project funding.

He also added fuel to a controversial fire by claiming private marina developments are generally better run and more successfully than public-owned facilities.

"There's not anything intrinsically wrong with cities," said Kevin O'Keefe, vice president of Western Waterways, Inc., Vallejo. "It's just that cities don't do a good job of running these things by themselves."

O'Keefe told council his company is prepared to negotiate with the city to operate the entire marina.

However, the catch is that his company and others like it couldn't afford to invest $2 million in pre-development work — including building a breakwater and doing certain water quality control work. O'Keefe said there's no financial return for private investors for that kind of work.

O'Keefe had been invited to speak to the council about the potential of private marina development.

For months, members of the United Taxpayers Association — a local organization fighting marina development — have been telling the council it should investigate private enterprise for the proposed Oyster Point expansion. They claim that not only would it relieve the city's general fund from liability if loans from state agencies should default but that a private development has a better chance of making a profit.

That's precisely what O'Keefe told the council. The council is willing to hear from other private developers, and if it should eventually decide to invite private investment, bids for the project would be necessary.

O'Keefe — whose company runs four other marinas in the Bay Area including Rio Vista on the Delta near Fairfield — said the council should seriously consider having a private investor buy the existing run-down floating facilities and construct new ones.

"I do not believe this would interfere with any of the planned funding you have now," O'Keefe said.

"In fact, cities and harbor districts that proceed in this manner end up with better projects than the ones that don't," O'Keefe said.

He said the city could finance preliminary work including water quality control by selling existing berthing to a private developer and adding that revenue to a loan from the county Harbor District.

The difference, he said, would be about $600,000 and the city "could find that money somewhere." Then, he said, the city would have only borrowed a little more than $2 million — rather than the $6 million it is planning to request from the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development.

City Manager Walter Birkelo said he believes DENOD would continue its commitment to finance the project as long as the city updates the project's financial feasibility report.

The county Harbor District would have to determine if it still desires to loan money for the project, Birkelo noted.

O'Keefe also said there are a number of procedures in the marina plan he wouldn't be able to follow. Councilman Terry Mirri said it appears O'Keefe is talking about a "lesser plan" for the marina.

Councilman Dick Battaglia asked O'Keefe if the private company would dip into the profits of the other marinas it operates if Oyster Point were financially failing.

O'Keefe said it would depend on whether he thought the company could ever work its way out of the red.

The developer said he would be able to build and maintain a parking lot at the property and not charge visitors for its use.

He also said the boat berth rates set by the city are "far too low."

Westmoor 'Fiddler'

The Westmoor High School Little Theater is being remodeled in preparation for the Daly City Recreation Department's production of the famous Broadway musical, "Fiddler On The Roof," directed by Ron Wells. In order to produce such a large scale musical, the stage has been extended 15 feet to make extra room for the musicians and actors.

Families Cure Alcoholics

According to Denise Baccala, coordinator for the San Mateo County office of the National Council on Alcoholism, evidence presented at a recent U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing on the impact of alcoholism on the family indicates that, due to the denial behavior of his family members as to how to effectively change their environment within an alcoholic family so as to knock away the necessary supports to his drinking behavior.

denial behavior of his family and friends.

Ms. Baccala further notes, "It is necessary to precipitate a crisis to motivate the alcoholic to seek treatment. This can and has been done by means of family oriented treatment to re-educate the family members as to how to effectively change their environment within an alcoholic family so as to knock away the necessary supports to his drinking behavior."

A recent program and follow up study conducted by the U.S. Postal Service focusing on the employee with a family member who was a practicing alcoholic, showed that in those families who were successfully re-educated 50 per cent of the alcoholics became self-motivated to actively seek treatment for their alcoholism.

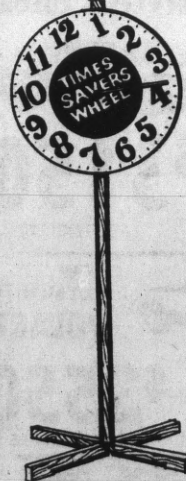

Ms. Baccala stresses that there are over 150,000 family members in San Mateo County alone who suffer from the adverse affects of alcoholism and urges anyone who is questioning someone else's use of alcohol to contact her agency for a free pre-treatment counseling and educational session.

The agency is now open Mondays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with evening appointments on an availability basis. Telephone is 348-5103.
